EX-PRESIDENT WILSON DISAPPROVES HARDING PLAN FOR WORLD COURT

Announcement Causes Flurry of Excitement in Both
Republican and Democratic Political Circles.

Washington, April 14.—From his quiet, red brick house in S Street, there he keeps his finger on the pulse of public and political affairs to a far greater degree than is generally known, came the voice of Woodrow Wilson today, announcing his disapproval of America joining the Permanent Court of International Justice, under the program of conditions prepared by President Harding, Secretary Hughes and Secretary Hoover.

The United States should either go in or stay out unconditionally, Mr. Wilson believes—he thus maintaining the identical position that he assumed toward the League of Nations during the memorable senate fight of three years ago.

Mr. Wilson's views became known today through the medium of a letter written to Representative Arthur B. Lousie, Democrat, of Kentucky. It was in reply to a communication from Representative Rouse, requesting his views on the conditional adherence to the court proposed by Mr. Harding in his message to the Senate at its closing days.

"I do not approve of the conditional adherence of the United States to the world court set up under the League of Nations," said Mr. Wilson's brief communication.

To do otherwise than to adhere to unconditionally would, in Mr. Wilson's opinion, be inconsistent with either the "fame, the candor, or the

QUICK JUSTICE METED OUT TO MURDER GANG

Members of West Virginia Black Hand
Convicted.

Clarksburg, West Va., April 14.—A new brand of "lightning justice" was written across American legal records by the "mountain court" here today as a result of the third conviction in five days, in West Virginia's sensational black hand murder trials.

With a number of deputy sheriffs and police on guard the three convicted murderers are held in the county jail awaiting sentences of death for their share in the "black hand" campaign of violence, terror and sudden death that left a bloody trail across West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Seven other alleged members of the terror hand are adjoining cells facing a turn at "mountain justice." The trio tried and convicted on first degree murder charges—all within five days—are "Nick" Salamante, Philip "Big Nose" Connizzaro and Richard "Dapper Dick" Ferria, Italians.

Ferria, the last man convicted was the accredited leader of the band, but the state charged all three rose through infamous "blood degrees" to be "super murderers" in the ranks of the Camorra by their toll of human lives.

It was said "Dapper Dick" so called for his faultless dress, had slain 17 men to win the "highest honors" given by the Camorra in this country.

Three different juries brought in verdicts of guilty against the trio for the slaying of Frank Naples, a Clarksburg business man, one of seven victims of the band in the county. A series of revolting revelations were made during the trials.

The black hand had shot men, dynamited homes and stolen girls to sell into hideous slavery, with an apparent indifference to all laws, but apparently finally overtook them with a swift justice that has set the whole county here to boasting.

Salamante was tried first, the testimony starting last Monday. He was convicted Tuesday by a jury which considered his fate in secret only seven minutes.

The next afternoon Connizzaro was found guilty by another jury which deliberated 14 minutes. On Thursday, Ferria's trial started and last night he was convicted by a jury which was out only 21 minutes.

Five of the seven men still facing trial are charged with being accessories before murder, in having helped to plot Naples' death. The first of these—Patsy Corbi—goes to trial Monday. The two remaining prisoners are charged with first degree murder for the slaying of James Little, a confectioner, in his store a year ago.

The trio of convictions were obtained chiefly on testimony given by Rocco Florio, a former "secretary" of the local black hand society. Florio told in court of the society's meetings when murders were plotted.

OFFICIALS QUIZZED IN WARD CASE

The investigation ordered by Governor A. E. Smith, of New York, into the failure of Westchester County officials to prosecute Walter S. Ward, millionaire baker, for killing Clarence Peters, an ex-salor, whom Ward shot while Peters, he alleged, was trying to blackmail him, has brought out many interesting points. The chief was the refusal of the Western Union Telegraph company to turn over to Attorney General Sherman copies of cablegrams passing between Ward and his father, in which Ward

FOUR LARGEST MEAT PACKERS RAISE PAY OF 8 1,500 EMPLOYEES

Armour-Morris Swift, Wilson and Cudahy, Announce
Boosts Totalling $6,750,000 Effective
On Monday.

Chicago, April 14.—Close on the heels of an announcement of an advance in wages to steel workers, it was announced here today that, effective Monday, the four largest meat packers will raise the pay of 8,150 employees.

The raise, according to figures furnished by the packers will amount to $6,750,000 yearly, divided as follows:

Armour-Morris Combine, $2,500,000 or 10 per cent.
Swift and Company, 25,000 men raised; total not given, 10 per cent.
Wilson and Company, $1,500,000, increase of 3 to 5 cents an hour.
Cudahy Packing Company, increases of three, four and five cents an hour, total not given.

Fifty-four hours will be recognized as week, with overtime at time and a half and holiday and Sunday work at double time. The guarantee of forty hours a week continues in effect. The increases were announced following conferences between committees representing employees in each plant and the general management.

FRIDAY THE THIRTEENTH ALMOST PAST WHEN, BUT READ THE STORY

Cincinnati, O., April 14.—Friday the thirteenth was almost past and not a mishap had occurred.

Howard Parker, deputy clerk in the U. S. district court, was about to congratulate himself. Then it happened!

In walked three men. One was Frank Wullmer, a tombstone carver. Parker inquired as to Wullmer's occupation.

"Grave digger," was Wullmer's reply.

Parker's eye shifted to a calendar on his desk. Then Wullmer's two witnesses came forward. One was John Hater, a sexton, and the other Charles Pistor, a tombstone carver.

Finally the three departed. Parker emitted a sigh of relief. Then, as he reached for a file book his watch fell from his vest pocket to the floor with a crash. The crystal was shattered.

Well, Parker is not superstitious.

JUDGESHIP MEASURE VETOED BY DONAHAY

Columbus, April 14.—Governor Donahay vetoed the motion picture bill by Representative Gordon of Logan county. The bill as passed by the legislature eliminated the imprisonment of violators of the censorship laws and increases fines, permitting violators to be convicted without trial.

The Holloway bill, creating an additional common pleas judge in Trumbull county, was also vetoed. The governor's action was interpreted to mean that he will take similar action on bills enacted creating municipal courts in several Ohio cities, including Barberton, Athens and Canton.

In vetoing the Holloway bill, Donahay said that "every conceivable kind of judgeship has been created in Ohio and the state has twice as many judges and court officers as it actually needs."

NAMED PRESIDENT OF HEALTH BODY

Columbus, April 14.—Dr. C. W. Kirkland of Bellaire was elected president of the Ohio Public Health association, succeeding Dr. C. D. Selby of Toledo at the annual meeting of the association. Approximately 150 delegates, representing local voluntary health organizations, were in attendance at the meeting.

HARDING SEEKS WAY TO SOLVE SHIP QUESTION

Meets Members of Board
Saturday in Attempt to Get Results

LASKER HAS PLAN

Announcement of Future
Policy of Administration Expected

Washington, April 14.—President Harding met today with members of the United States Shipping Board to work out a method of getting the government out of the shipping business.

Chairman A. D. Lasker laid before the President a plan evolved by the board after more than a month of conferences with ship owners, builders and operators. It is believed that following today's conference will come an announcement of future policy.

Details of the plan have been carefully guarded, but it is understood it represents the composite views of the private owners and operators, and as such will allow the government to "get out from under" in the most graceful manner possible.

The President, following the failure of Congress to pass a subsidy measure, announced that the administration no longer would be the "goat" in the operation of the American merchant marine.

The Shipping Board has been showing a loss averaging between $40,000 and $50,000,000 annually and without the requested subvention Mr. Harding is determined not to allow his administration to shoulder the criticism, political and otherwise.

MAN REFUSED LICENSE TO WED ADOPTED DAUGHTER

Coshocton, April 14.—W. L. Mills, 49, of Coshocton, was refused a marriage license to wed Mabel A. Parkinson Mills, 19, his adopted daughter, by Probate Judge Milo C. Ely, when the judge ruled that a man cannot legally marry his adopted daughter.

Mabel Parkinson was adopted by Mills and his wife in Zanewille four years ago. Since then Mills' wife has died. It was said here that the case of a man applying to marry his adopted daughter was without parallel, and that no direct reference to such a case was to be found in law records.

Neither marriage laws, adoption laws nor criminal statutes mention such a possibility, it was said.

TWO ARE ARRESTED AS LIQUOR FOUND

Cincinnati, O., April 14.—Five barrels of Scotch whiskey, labelled "hard ware," were seized here late yesterday by federal prohibition agents. The "hardware" was consigned from Florida to a Cincinnati electrical firm.

Later, federal officials caused the arrest of G. A. Brown, Jacksonville, Fla., citrus grove owner, and E. A. Strauss, Jacksonville cigar dealer. Brown and Strauss were lodged in city jail pending issuance of warrants charging them with violation of the Volstead law.

GOVERNORS WILL TALK ENFORCEMENT

Washington, April 14.—President Harding's conference of governors to discuss means of enforcing the prohibition laws will be held here next month, it was announced at the white house. The president will lay before the governors a program worked out at his direction by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes. It is said to be an elaborate scheme for the co-operation of all state agencies with those of the government. The president hopes to have this plan put into operation immediately by the governors. He will suggest that the states should properly bear a portion of the expense of dry law enforcement.

DE VALERA'S MESSAGE

Dublin, April 14.—In a message to the Irish irregulars lauding Liam Lynch, who died as a result of injuries received in the raid in which he was captured by the Free State troops, Eamonn De Valera declared: "Faced by former comrades who have deserted you, your task is a hard and sad one, and a task upon which only heroes would venture. You have flung yourselves across the path of the stampede of the nation, but it is better to die nobly, as your chief has done, than to live as slaves."

FALL PROVES FATAL

Columbus, April 14.—Miss Roda Anderson, 81, died from the effects of a fall at her home here, when she fractured her hip.

UNCOVER IRISH PLOT TO ASSASSINATE HIGH OFFICIALS OF ENGLAND

Police Seize Documents Indicating Republican Sympathizers in London Planned Wholesale Rioting.

London, April 14.—Documents indicating that Irish Republican sympathizers in London, planned to attack Light, power and subway stations, attempt the delivery of Irish prisoners from jails and perhaps try to assassinate high British officials, were seized by the police today in widespread raids throughout London.

Dublin, April 14.—Austin Stack, one of Eamonn De Valera's Republican lieutenants, was captured near Clonmel today. Stack was originally a member of the Irish delegation that negotiated the Anglo-Irish treaty in London, but later he deserted the Free State forces, throwing in his lot with the irregulars.

SAYS CIVILIZATION OF EUROPE IS THREATENED

Premier of South Africa Declares Continent On Brink
of Disaster—England, He Avers, Must
Point the Way.

Cape Town, Union of South Africa, April 14.—European civilization is threatened with destruction, General Jan Christian Smuts, premier of South Africa, declared here today in a speech.

"It is impossible for our commonwealth to remain an indifferent spectator to the rapidly developing crisis in Europe," said Premier Smuts. "Forces have been set into action in Europe which may end European civilization. Our commonwealth has it in its power to be the main bulwark of European peace. Something must be done. The League of Nations is powerless."

"Great Britain has a great opportunity in the present crisis to speak the great words which, with the ex-

ORGANIZATION BILL DECLARED WRONG

Columbus, April 14.—"I pledge myself to help put the appointment of the director of health in the hands of the Public Health Council, where it rightfully belongs," declared Dr. John E. Monger, present state director of health, addressing the annual meeting of the Ohio Public Health Association.

Dr. Monger condemned as "fundamentally wrong" the present system of appointment by the governor, created by the Davis organization bill passed two years ago. "This subject will not be a toy of political expediency as in the past, but will be put squarely to the public, asserted Monger."

"I do not care a snap whether I am director tomorrow, next week or next year, but while I am director I expect to retain my freedom and not let the position subsidize my independence," Monger declared.

CHILD DEAD AT BIRTH SAVED BY NEW METHOD

New York, April 14.—An infant supposedly born dead was "brought to life" by the injection into its heart of several drops of adrenalin last Monday, officials of the Brownsville and East New York Hospital of Brooklyn announced.

The child, son of Mrs. Rose Servin, was, according to hospital authorities, apparently dead at birth. A careful examination, however, indicated a very faint heart action and doctors immediately attempted to establish respiration.

Two hours work had been unsuccessful when the physicians decided to resort to adrenalin. The effort was instantaneous, it was stated, and a few minutes later a lusty infant was presented to Mrs. Servin, who previously had been told her child was dead.

IMPOSTER SOAKED— WILL BE DEPORTED

London, April 14.—Zendenshino Mohammed Said Kakelo, who, as the self-styled "Prince of Kurdistan," cut a dash in the fashionable circles of New York, Paris and London, and fooled the socially elect into believing that he was a descendant of royalty, has been sentenced to six months in jail as an imposter. After the sentence is served he will be deported.

The "prince" danced with the prettiest society girls in three cities and was wine and dined by their brothers and elders, who thought he was a real prince from a throne. He boasted of his acquaintance and intimacy with royalty and nobility, and with the Vanderbilts, Rockefellers, Whitneys and other wealthy American families.

The "prince" is 37 years old and lived in luxury for many years. He was a clerk in a second-hand clothing shop in Cheapside before he polished up his fake crown and waded into the highest society.

DE VALERA ELUDES PURSUING TROOPS IN THE MOUNTAINS

Dublin, April 14.—Despite vigorous search by Free State troops, during which airplanes were employed, Eamonn De Valera has apparently escaped from the Tipperary mountains in which he was hiding, according to unofficial information received at Free State military headquarters today.

The whole mountain districts was swept from end to end by six columns of Free State troops acting under General Prout. Many secret hiding places were found and numerous Republican irregular prisoners were captured but De Valera was not among them.

General Prout sent word he did not believe there is a single irregular hiding anywhere in the mountains.

"They are swept clean," said the Free State commandant.

Heavy rains are falling over the Tipperary mountains making further search difficult.

LONDON POLICE CONDUCT RAIDS

London, April 14.—More than 150 policemen conducted a series of extensive raids in various parts of London early today searching the homes of suspected members of the "London Battalion" of the Irish Republican army.

A number of persons were detained for further investigation but it is understood none of them will be deported, as was done six weeks ago when more than 100 Irishmen and women were arrested in raids in England and Scotland.

BOY CONVICTED OF MURDER OF MAN

Montrose, Pa., April 14.—Elmer Washburn, 14-year-old schoolboy, gazed about him unmoved when the jury returned a verdict of second degree murder against him. He was charged with the murder of Cyrus Payne, aged Brushville (Pa.) hermit, with robbery as the motive.

The dramatic appearance of the boy's father, Thomas Sperry of Little, N. Y., who swore on the witness stand that Elmer was not 14 years of age, and thus had not reached what Pennsylvania holds as "the age of presumption," saved the young slayer from the chair. Were it not for the testimony of the father, who disappeared when Elmer was an infant, the jury, it was said after the discharge of the panel, would probably have reached a verdict of first degree murder.

CARTER IMPROVING

Cairo, Egypt, April 14.—Howard Carter, the American Egyptologist, who was taken ill following the death of Lord Carnarvon, when he caught a cold while busy arranging the formalities for the dispatch of Lord Carnarvon's body to England, is better, Carter said that the preservative work on the tomb of Seti the Second, and on the objects removed from the tomb of Tutankhamen, is proceeding satisfactorily.

FESS CONDEMNS ATTACKS MADE ON U. S. SUPREME COURT

Senator S. D. Fess of Yellow Springs advocated the principle of a two-thirds majority vote in the U. S. Supreme Court's decision affecting the constitutionality of laws by Congress while voicing emphatic condemnation of radical attacks upon the court in an address before the Men's Club of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Dayton, Friday night.

Senator Fess said that he would not permit the authority of the court, strip it of its power and flaunt its dignity. He attributed the increasing frequency of adverse decisions by the court to what he intimated was the failure of the recent Congresses to look into the possible unconstitutionality of bills before they were enacted into laws.

The speaker opened his address with a brief review of the different forms of government. Asserting that each has three fundamental functions, executive, legislative and judicial. He then launched into a decision of the powers of the United States Supreme Court and effort to abridge its authority, because of recent rulings setting aside several important measures enacted by Congress at the behest of almost universal public opinion.

"The United States Supreme Court represents the highest type of men it is possible to obtain in this country," the Senator said. "It is beyond the influence of unthinking clamor, but the best of men in Congress permit strong movements back home to influence them sometimes against their will."

"The agitation aroused by the late decision of the court, holding that the minimum wage for women is not constitutional, shows that we are in a cycle of thinking in the United States. This mass thinking by the general public must be directed, unless we are to run the risk of doing harm to the very fundamentals of our form of government. It is the height of unwisdom to launch thoughtless attacks on the court for it is the strongest element of stability in our government. Nevertheless, attacks upon this great judicial body have become a common practice, culminating in the movement to abridge its powers."

Senator Fess then discussed the various plans which senators and representatives have publicly said they intend to present before the next session of Congress. He paid particular attention to the proposals of Senator LaFollette, of Wisconsin, and Senator Borah, of Idaho.

"These suggestions that the powers of the court be curbed are not new," he said. "In the early days of the Republic there were many opponents of the plan to make it absolutely supreme. Today the main propositions to hold the court in check are presented by Senator LaFollette and Senator Borah. The senator from Wisconsin wants the decisions of the court reviewed by Congress, giving the latter power to reverse the court's decisions by a two-thirds vote. This proposal, if carried out, would absolutely destroy the independence of the court but there is no danger of its success."

"Senator Borah favors a unanimous vote of the court on constitutional matters, and I have some sympathy with his position. However if we are to change the present procedure, I believe the best method would be to adopt the plan of a two-thirds vote by the court on the constitutionality of laws. But I am of the opinion that Congress has no legal authority to pass a law to that effect."

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

H. H. H. TEAM BEATS CEDARVILLE ALL-STARS
ATHLETES OF PENNSYLVANIA R. R. GATHER IN COLUMBUS
GRID PRACTICE DELAYED UNTIL NEXT WEEK

LANDIS OPTIMISTIC

Chicago, Ill., April 14.—Optimistic, that's him all over, Mabel, Judge Landis, baseball's high commissioner, says baseball is going to have a grand year. Witness the following statement issued from his office here today:

"For 1923 there is every indication of a most excellent season. Apparently in most leagues there will be a broadening of the field of clubs that are up in the race. Very generally the results of spring training are highly satisfactory and I look for a great year for the fans."

PENNSYLVANIA MEET IS ON.

Athletes of the Pennsylvania Railroad System from all over the country are in Columbus Saturday taking part in the third annual indoor athletic meet, conceded the largest affair on its kind in the country.

The meet is held in the coliseum of the state fair grounds and championships will be established in 67 events. Floor, ring and mat events are sectional, and teams from the eastern divisions will compete with western teams.

For track and field contests, bowling, trap shooting, rifle shooting, quoits, horseshoes and shuffleboard, the contestants are divided into six groups, representing the six major operating units of the Pennsylvania System.

Both men and women athletes from all over the System are taking part in the meet.

Grid Practice Next Week

Spring football practice at Central High will not be started until next week, it is announced by Coach Earl Burner.

A meeting of candidates was held Thursday evening and a likely looking lot of embryo pastimers turned out to hear a talk by the grid mentor.

With two handholds on the Miami University southwestern Ohio championship cup, ambitions have sprung up at Central High to make the trophy a permanent possession by winning it again next year. Another crack eleven next fall would bring the cup and unusual amount of football prominence to the Xenia School, and it is hoped that when spring grid practice is indulged in next week, that some latent talent will develop to strengthen the team next fall.

XENIA TEAM VICTORIOUS.

The H. H. H. basketball team defeated the Cedarville All-Stars 25 to 10 Friday evening.

The fast pass work of the locals outclassed the Cedarville aggregation. Parks, W. Luttrell, Smith and Anderson starting for the Xenia quintet while Harris and Mills starred for the All-Stars.

The first half was very fast with Parks making five straight field goals and Mills and Harris dropping in two apiece, the first half ending 10 to 8 in favor of the Xenia five. The Xenia athletes were pacemakers in the second period and the visitors could add but two points to their total. The lineup and summary:

H. H. H. (28) All-Stars (10)
R. Luttrell ..... L. F. .... Whitney
H. Smith ..... R. F. .... Shoupe
Parks ..... C ..... Dillard
Anderson ..... L. G. .... Harris

Substitutions: W. Luttrell for R. Luttrell. Field Goals: Parks 5, W. Luttrell 4, H. Smith 3, Anderson 2, Harris 3, Mills 2. Referee: Jack.

BAYLIFFS TO PLAY

By Wones

The Xenia Bayliffs will play the Bowersville nine Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Washington Park in the first game that has been played here this season. The Bayliff-Bowersville game was booked last week but on account of the frosty weather the game was cancelled until Sunday April 15. This game is booked for a practice game only and was scheduled by Roy Bayliff in order that he can give all those who wish a try out with his semi-pro gang a good chance to show just what kind of base ball that they have in them.

Baseball fans who think that the game will be a makeshift affair will be fooled as both teams have some veterans and youngsters in the line-ups. Rube Hall, Willie McDonald and Cooper will do the twirling for the local nine. Frantz and Ernie Randal will do the receiving. Both of these lads are fine at their positions.

Tucker will be at the initial sack. Welder will be found at second. Furnas at third. Stony Fuller will don a Bayliff uniform again and will be found at center field. Just who will hold down the other positions is a question now and will not be settled until Sunday but with F. Leahy, Les Stiles, Woolary, Schwab, Early of Jamestown and Don Fuller stuck in the lineup the locals will no doubt make things very interesting for the Bowersville gang.

As for the Bowersville bunch they are getting better every day. Wical who has had big league experience will take care of the twirling while Gallimore will be at the hot corner and Woolery at one of the outfield positions.

HUNDRED JAPANESE FISHERMEN DROWN

Tokio, April 14.—Upwards of one hundred fishermen are believed to have been drowned, and thirty bodies have already been recovered off the coast of southern Korea and Japan, following one of the most severe wind storms in years. Many ships were driven ashore.

Six American destroyers expected at Yokohama are delayed by the storm.

Various prefectures reported houses were swept away in great numbers. Officials of the home office have sent representatives to Korea to ascertain the damage there.

MILITANT SPIRIT AGAIN STALKING THROUGH EUROPE—RUHR BALKING PEACE

Editor's Note: Following is the fourth of a series of articles on European conditions written after a first hand study of affairs, both in the British Isles and continental Europe.

By DAVID M. CHURCH

London, April 14.—Europe's efforts to forget war have been seriously hampered by the Ruhr affair.

The militant spirit which showed signs of drooping and dying in the post armistice days, is once again stalking through Europe.

Communiques, war bulletins and war news from the Ruhr have stirred the breasts of Europe's men. There is something about the war that is feverishly contagious. No sooner had the first reports of clashes in the Ruhr begun to trickle out than on all sides one heard discussions of war and its possibilities. The great majority professed that they did not want war, and they probably meant it, but nevertheless there was a note of insincerity in the voices of those who protested, that if war came, they would refuse to join the colors. The great mass of people of Europe do not want war, but if war comes they will flock to the colors just as they did in 1914. Europe has been brought up on wars and sons are bred with an instinct for defending the colors. This instinct has been enlivened by the Ruhr situation which has many elements of war which may result in anything.

In Germany according to reliable reports, retired Prussian officers, who, a year ago, were despised and without respect, are once again treated with the greatest deference when they appear in public and old soldiers click their heels and snap into attention as they pass by.

ENTERTAINS HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Members of the junior and senior classes of the Bath Township High School, at Fairfield, were entertained at the annual class reception by Miss Helen Stewart at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Stewart, on the Dayton and Yellow Springs pike, Thursday evening.

Thirty-three members of the two classes were entertained at the affair the guests including County Supt. of Schools and Mrs. H. C. Aultman, Professor and Mrs. D. S. Lynn, superintendent of the Bath Township Schools and the Rev. and Mrs. Elder B. Leis, pastor of the Fairfield Reformed Church and the teachers of the Bath township High School.

A prettily appointed two-course banquet was served at seven o'clock, purple and gold, the senior class color, being used in the appointments and in the decorations of the Stewart home. The committee in charge of the affair was composed of a group of senior girls, Miss Emma Herr, Miss Martha Rue and Miss Helen Stewart.

The Rev. Mr. Lewis presided as toastmaster, the program of the evening consisting of talks by Prof. E. J. Lundy, principal of Bath Township High School and Miss Rachel Ankeny and Miss Alice Baines, teachers of the school.

RECEIVE ANNOUNCEMENT OF MARRIAGE IN WEST.

Mr. and Mrs. James Curlett, Sr., of West Third Street, received a telegram Saturday announcing the marriage of their son, Mr. Lawrence Vincent Curlett, of Ontario, Calif., and Miss Amber Purvis, also of Ontario, which took place in that city Thursday, April 12, at high noon. The newly married couple will make their home at 2908 A. E. Street in Ontario after May first.

News of the marriage will be of interest to a large circle of friends of the groom in this city. Mr. Curlett has made his home for more than two years in Ontario, near Los Angeles where he has been successfully engaged in the automobile business. During the war he served with the A. E. F. overseas and was stationed in Germany.

Mr. Curlett and his bride are planning to visit in this city this summer and will make the trip by motor.

PYTHIAN SISTERS ENTERTAINED FRIDAY.

Mrs. Frank Hurley, Mrs. John Smith and Mrs. A. J. Wilson, entertained the members of the Pythian Sisters, at a Thimble party at the home of Mrs. Hurley on Hill Street, Friday afternoon.

Thirty-five women were received, the afternoon being featured by two contests. The first, a work basket contest was won by Mrs. Frank Shelley, the second a cake contest, being awarded Mrs. James Savage. A refreshment course was served by the hostesses.

GOOD CHEER CLUB ENTERTAINED THURSDAY

Members of the Good Cheer Club were entertained at the home of Mrs. Earl B. Rakestraw, on Maple Street, Thursday afternoon. Fourteen women were received by Mrs. Rakestraw who was assisted by Mrs. J. A. Bales and Mrs. John Bocklett.

The rooms of the Rakestraw home were unusually attractive with masses of pussywillow, and golden daffodils. The guests of the afternoon spent the time with their sewing. A tempting luncheon course was served by Mrs. Rakestraw.

THIMBLE CLUB ENTERTAINED FRIDAY.

Games and contests furnished an interesting social time for seventeen members of the Pride of Xenia Thimble Club, at the home of Mrs. John Keiter, on West Second Street, Friday afternoon.

Following the regular business meeting a short program was held, followed by a social time, the prize winners, being Mrs. Mary Fry and Mrs. Mary Kafory. A refreshment course was served.

Mrs. Keiter was assisted by Mrs. Edward Hubbard, and Mrs. Frank Ford.

The following directions for knitting an "ear of corn" teapot holder has been sent to me by a reader to publish here for the benefit of another reader who recently asked for them.

"Corn Teapot Holder: Use two threads of German yarn—one corn color and one white. Cast on 60 stitches. Knit 6 sts. with one color, 6 with the other color, always alternating color and being careful to keep the straight thread on underside.

"Knit 30 ridges on right side, then on right side narrow in every other row of corn. Knit 5 ridges on right side, then narrow in other 5 rows of corn, after which narrow 1 st. in every row of corn on right side, binding off when you have 10 sts.

"Fringe a bit of white silk or ribbon on other end." Mrs. M. S.

JOINT RECEPTION IS DISCONTINUED BY SCHOOL HEADS

Owing to the fall re to secure suitable accommodations, and the expense of taking care of the large number of pupils, it has been generally decided by school officials of the county, to discontinue the county-wide junior and senior reception, according to County Superintendent of Schools, H. C. Aultman. The county-wide reception was inaugurated and held the last two years in Xenia. Mr. Aultman hopes that the combined school reception may be continued next year.

The receptions of the two higher classes of the Greene County schools, will be held in the various parts of the county, within the next few weeks. The first of the affairs was held by the Bath Township High School at Fairfield, Thursday evening.

The county-wide reception includes the entertainment of between 300 and 350 people annually, Mr. Aultman said.

LOSING TEAM SPONSORS SENIOR HOP FRIDAY

Members of the Senior class of Central High School, frolicked at the Elk's Club Friday night, enjoying a dancing party, sponsored by a committee of the class, the hosts at the affair, being composed of the losing team in a contest for subscriptions for a popular magazine, conducted in the class, recently, headed by Thomas Hollencomp.

Dancing, with music furnished by the Novelty Sextette, furnished the most popular entertainment of the evening, refreshments being sold at a booth by members of the class.

CLUB MEMBERS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. C. L. Greenwell entertained the members of the Jitney Club at her home on West Third Street, Friday evening. Card were enjoyed by the guests, the highest score prize being won by Mrs. Greenwell. A two course luncheon was served.

O. T. Sheets of the O. S. and S. O. Home, is spending Saturday and Sunday in Columbus, visiting friends.

Mrs. B. F. Stevenson, of Columbus, is visiting her brothers, the Messrs. L. F. and E. H. Clevenger, of East Market Street.

Mr. James Harner, of the Upper Bellbrook pike, has arrived home from Panama, Calif., where he spent several months. Mrs. Harner, who went to Panama last October, will remain there until June.

A number of Xenia and Greene County relatives and friends of Miss Hannah Probasco, of Wilmington, whose death occurred Friday morning, will attend the funeral services, Sunday afternoon at two o'clock.

The entertainment which was to have been given by the Woman's Relief Corps, Tuesday evening, has been postponed for a week.

Mrs. Fred Anderson, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Mills, of Greenville, Ohio, was called home, owing to the illness of her brother, William Ellison, of the Needmore Neighborhood. She was accompanied home by her sister, Mrs. Frank Passon, and daughter, Lucile, of Greenville.

Mrs. V. J. Brown's Sunday School class of Trinity M. E. Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Brier Bell on Hill Street, Tuesday evening, April 17, at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Jessiemae Uhl, who teaches at Prairie View, near Dayton, has as her guests for the week end, three of her pupils, the Misses Frances, May and Bessie Davidson.

Mrs. J. Rachel Kelly of North King Street and Mrs. George Kelly of West Second Street, returned home Thursday from a trip to the Bermuda Islands. They were accompanied by Miss Margaret Kelly, of the Brier Cliff Manor School on the Hudson.

Mrs. Minor Williams and daughter, Gertrude, of New York, and Mrs. Connable, of Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ary of Dayton, will spend Sunday in this city, as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ary of North King Street.

Mrs. Stella Rempke of Chicago, has accepted a position as nurse in the McClellan Hospital in this city, and began her work a week ago. Mrs. Rempke has had wide experience having had charge of the emergency hospital of the American Rolling Mills, the Poague store hospital in Cincinnati, and also has served in Bethesda and other hospitals in Cincinnati. She is a sister of Mrs. Geo. Fuller of South Detroit trees.

DR. PROUDFIT RETURNS

Dr. Charles P. Proudfit returned home Friday from New York City, where he spent several days in attendance at a conference of moderators and other officials of leading Protestant denominations. The conference was called by Dr. Robert E. Speer president of the Federal Council of Churches of America. Eighteen delegates were in attendance at the conference which was held in the Yale Club in New York.

GIRLS AS MISSIONARIES.

Girls make the best missionaries, Dr. Paul Rader, noted evangelist, said. They have charm to still the savage breast. A call for 500 girl missionaries will be issued this summer by the Christian and Missionary Alliance, which Dr. Rader heads. "Millions of yellow men, black men and brown men over the world have never met missionaries," he said. "The heart of Africa, Thibet and Brazil hold myriads of savages as yet unapproached."

JUDGE SATER ENTERS 43RD YEAR IN OFFICE

Columbus, April 14.—Federal Judge John E. Sater celebrated the forty-second anniversary of his entrance into public life in Columbus, yesterday, by departing for Covington, Ky., where he will sit in a three judge case tomorrow. On April 13, 1881, Judge Sater took up the work of a deputy in the office of the state school commissioner. He has been in public office most of the time since.

MAY PASS BILL OVER VETO IN ATTEMPT TO ACCEPT BRYAN FARM

The possibility that the bill providing the state acceptance of the 500-acre John Bryan farm near Yellow Springs, bequeathed by Bryan to the State as a game preserve and forestry may be passed over the veto of Governor A. V. Donahey, was expressed Saturday by Representative M. A. Broadstone of this city.

The Governor vetoed the bill Friday on the grounds that acceptance of the bill would be unconstitutional, contrary to public policy and that it conflicts with the ordinance of 1787. Local people interested in the State acceptance of the tract, however, believe that the chief executive, in vetoing the bill, was merely dodging the religious issue which hinges on the clause in the Bryan will providing that no religious service should ever be held on the tract.

This is the third rebuff received by people making an effort to have the State accept the tract. Former State Secretary of Agriculture Shaw, acting under direction of former Governor Cox and Shaw's successor, L. J. Tabor, acting under instructions from former Governor Davis, both turned down the gift. The will provides that in the event the bequest is not accepted by the state that it shall revert to Greene County.

"Governor Donahey never expressed himself to me about the bill to accept the bequest, but I understood that he had told several people that he would favor it," said Representative Broadstone, Saturday. To pass the bill over the Governor's veto requires a two-third vote favoring it in both branches of the Legislature. This bill was given a much larger majority than this upon its first introduction in both branches.

It is now possible to take possible to take introduction in both branches. It is now possible to take it up again when the Assembly reconvenes the latter part of this month and by passing it by the same vote, accept the tract over the Governor's veto. I believe that could easily be done. Personally, however, it is immaterial to me whether it is passed or not, for if the state refuses to accept it, that gives Greene County a chance to acquire the property. I don't know that it will be taken up again but I believe it could be passed."

L. F. Clevenger, former president of the Greene County Fish and Game Protective Association, who has been active in all efforts to have the bequest accepted, was very much surprised at the action of the Governor in vetoing the bill. Mr. Clevenger, with Postmaster H. E. Rice, conferred with Governor Donahey on behalf of acceptance of the tract. At that time the executive said his mind was made up, but that he merely wished to confer with Attorney General Grabbe before passing on the bill. The Xenia men were led to believe that he would not veto the proposed acceptance.

It is the belief of Mr. Clevenger that Cincinnati interests in connection with the Bryan estate, may be using influence to delay acceptance of the tract. "I wish there were some way to make the bequest in a minute," said Mr. Clevenger. That the fight to have the tract finally come to its intended use, as prescribed in the will, will continue, was the statement of Mr. Clevenger, Saturday.

DISPLAY SHOWS HOW RECEIVERS ARE MADE

Various operations between the crude rubber and finished shell for a telephone receiver compose a display of The Ohio Bell Telephone Company in the window of the Greene County Hardware Company, East Main Street.

Samples of crude rubber, the rubber after it is prepared for working out, after the receiver molds are cut out, and the roughly molded rubber receiver before it is finished, are on display with an explanation of the operation of manufacture. The instruments, made by the Western Electric Company, which also manufactures other parts of the telephone and telephone appliances, are rolled, cut and baked "like biscuits."

FIRST LABOR BANK IN NEW YORK OPENS

New York, April 14.—Thousands of union men and women filled Union Square today and celebrated the opening of the first labor bank in New York—the Amalgamated Bank. Bands blared and crowds milled around the square several hours.

The institution, organized by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, opened with insured savings, 900 depositors having placed $250,000 in its safe before it started business. It has a capital and surplus of $350,000. While the bank is open to the general public, it is primarily for the interest of union members, whose enterprises it will assist.

UNION COMMUNITY CLUB GIVES ITS PROGRAM FRIDAY

A large attendance and an interesting program featured the regular meeting of the Union Community Club, held at the schoolhouse, Friday evening.

The program of the evening opened with "America" by the assemblage, followed by a recitation by Clarabel Watkins. Music by the Rev. and Mrs. Walley was enjoyed. A clever playlet, "The Packing of the Home Missionary Barrel" was the principal number on the program, the characters being taken by Mrs. Tom Ledbetter, Mrs. Karl Babb, Mrs. Harry Seifert, Mrs. Orville Watkins, Mrs. Willis DeVoe, Mrs. R. C. Ledbetter, Mrs. Roger Fudge, Miss Louise Ledbetter, Miss Anna Ellison and Roy Seifert.

A solo was given by Mrs. Royland Wolf, as the next number. "Does Farming Pay?" was the subject of an interesting discussion, led by Harry Seifert, Emory Beal, Herman Davis and Horace Anderson. Lucille Anderson and Edith McDonald sang a duet. A violin solo by Mrs. Walley, accompanied by Mrs. Orville Watkins, closed the program.

A business meeting was held following the refreshment committee serving delicious home-made candy later.

Members of the club hope to have the Union Grange Orchestra present at the next meeting.

The club meetings are held the second Friday in each month and are always marked with an informal social time. About one hundred members attended the Friday evening program.

TREASURY HEADS ARE UNEASY OVER DEBT SETTLEMENT

Washington, April 14.—Evidences of uneasiness are apparent at the treasury department over the delay by the British in executing the contract for the $4,600,000,000 debt settlement.

It has been almost four weeks since the American debt funding commission delivered to Ambassador Geddes the contract form it had prepared, putting into legal phraseology the terms of settlement agreed to by the British mission that came to Washington in January and ratified by the American congress. Since that time there has been no word whatever.

With the developments of the present week in London, foreshadowing the possible fall of the Bonar Law cabinet, the treasury's confidence of a week ago has given way to outward evidences of uneasiness. The most optimistic expression to which treasury officials now will give voice is that they are "hopeful" that the settlement will not be greatly delayed.

Secretary Mellon, chairman of the American commission, has called a meeting of that body for next Monday to consider the situation. Last Monday he felt certain the contract would be in hand the following day and he could call the commission one day this week to formally receive it. Now he doesn't know what to do about it. Senator Smoot and other members of the commission are in the same quandary.

Meanwhile Ambassador Geddes and his private secretary, H. V. Tennant, have absented themselves from Washington and are at a fashionable resort in Virginia.

Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, who headed the debt mission to Washington, is one of the centers of the political storm now raging in England. It is not unreasonable to expect the opposition to look with disfavor on his financial policies, particularly one involving such a large sum, extending over such a long period of time and so directly affecting the British pocketbook.

Monday's conference of the American commission, in addition to a discussion of the British delay, also will be given to speeding up action on the part of other debtor nations. The American commission is expected to draft a polite but pointed note to all the debtor nations, suggesting that the time has come to do something.

AUTO SPEED TRAP HELD LEGAL.

Zanesville, O., April 14.—Speed traps set for motorists in Ohio are legal, according to the decision of Judge C. C. Lambert of common pleas court. However, the case in which the court ruled likely will be carried to the supreme court. A man was arrested at Norwich and fined in the mayor's court for exceeding the speed limit. He had been caught in the noted Norwich speed "trap."

"DONKEY" JIBE BRINGS REBUKE FOR LADY ASTOR.

Lady Astor does not think boys and girls under eighteen years should drink anything stronger than water or tea, and wants a law on the British statute books saying so.

But she is so dead in earnest over the proposition that when opponents began taming down her proposed prohibition measure in the Commons Committee the Viscountess forgot herself and called another member of the committee a "village donkey."

J. H. Thomas, and former locomotive engineer, recently a guest at the Astor home, considered the remark in doubtful taste and as chairman asked the Viscountess to withdraw her remark. She did. Committee meetings which Lady Astor is to participate are unfailing well attended, as they usually are enlivened with bits of by-play or picturesque phrases not exactly characteristic of the usual party grind.

Walter Creavesford, conservative, moved an amendment exempting beer and cider from the operations of the bill. Lady Astor opposed this vigorously, saying the amendment was intended to wreck the bill.

All the amendments, she went on, seemed to be wrecking amendments, except those in the name of J. R. Remer, conservative, who, she asserted, "seemed to be the village donkey."

Sir George Hamilton, conservative, protested against the continual reference to those opposing the bill as being interested in the trade. He said Lady Astor's own organization was so rich and powerful that it had influenced the sending of hundreds of letters to the members of the house virtually threatening that, if they did not vote for her bill, the writers would not again vote for them.

In spite of the strength of the opposition, Lady Astor won the tilt, the amendment being rejected by a vote of 27 to 19.

EVERY STEAMSHIP CARRIES ITS LOAD OF BANKNOTES SHIPPED BY EXPRESS COMPANIES AND OTHERS.

Shortly before the sailing of one of the large ocean liners a few days ago a motor truck, well guarded by detectives, rolled out on the pier and took its station at the foot of a lowered gang-plank.

In rapid succession wooden boxes or cases bound with iron straps and having leaden seals were handed down from the vehicle and rushed aboard the steamship. The boxes averaged one foot long, one foot high and one foot deep, although some of the mysterious containers were of smaller size.

Once on the deck the boxes were relayed quickly into the purser's storeroom, which was afterward locked and carefully bolted. A man who had been in charge of the strange cargo took a receipt from the purser and left the ship.

"What was in those boxes?" we later asked him.

"American money," he replied, as if there was nothing remarkable in the circumstance.

"Not coins?"

"No, we ship coins on those rare occasions when there is hard money moving eastward, in specially made coin kegs or double-canvas bags," he answered. "What you have just witnessed is the debarkation of American paper money insured for its full value. The cases I have loaded aboard contained bills—most of them in $1, $2, $5 and $10 denominations, and some packages of $20 bills. They are shooting it across these days on nearly every ship that sails for Northern European ports."

How many of us will recall in the pre-war days the scorn of European shopkeepers, cab drivers and cafe owners when proffered American banknotes, only those acceptable at all being the gold certificates, and even those were taken with wry faces!

Today the most sought-after things of money value in Europe are American bills and returning travelers tell pathetic tales of Confederate money and counterfeit script now being wildly grabbed in the cities and towns of Germany, Austria, Poland and Hungary and the various Baltic provinces which have been transformed into the small republics of Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia and Finland, not forgetting the Free City of Danzig.

"We have been extensively exporting American banknotes to North Europe for some months now, and the demand for them is rapidly increasing," said Donald Frothingham, general manager of the new business department of the American Express Company.

"Remember that the German mark, which before the war ran 4 1/5 to the dollar, has depreciated to 21,000 to the dollar. The Austrian crown, that once was valued at nearly five to the dollar, now sells in paper money at 78,000 to the dollar, while the last known quotation of Russian paper rubles was millions to the dollar.

"It is logical that the people in those countries which have lost credit with themselves should seek possession of a foreign currency of known high standing. In Berlin a premium of 55 per cent is being paid for American banknotes over what is given for a New York draft."

HARVARD RACE ISSUE.

The Board of Overseers at Harvard has decided to maintain in its rules for admission the "traditional policy of freedom from discrimination on grounds of race or religion." That is the only principle applicable in a non-sectarian American institution of learning—the principle of an equal privilege for all in the democracy of scholarship. Every boy who genuinely wants a college education should have his opportunity to secure it; and the first touchstone of fitness, beyond any scholastic ordeal, should be the intensity and sincerity of that desire.

If members of any one race show an extraordinary zeal for a liberal education, if by persistence and application they outstrip others who are leisurely and self-indulgent and half-hearted, they deserve to be rewarded, not penalized, for their initiative. The prizes in every worldly competition go to those who "strive and agonize" for them, and the collegiate premiums are not on sloth or luxurious dalliance but on zeal and diligence. These excellent qualities are not the monopoly of any race.

The processes of social exclusion and invidious personal distinction are foreign to the idea of American scholarship and to any generous and broad academic idealism. To put up the bars against earnest aspirants for truth because they are not of a certain group is to resist the fundamental fact that schools and colleges are founded for those who need them most, and use them best.

DO YOU EVER NOTICE TO WHOM HE TURNS WHEN HE GETS "UP AGAINST IT?"

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

A meeting of the Xenia Presbytery was held at Cedarville yesterday, the most important business coming up being the question of the consolidation of the Second and Third United Presbyterian Churches of this city. The petition for the consolidation was taken up and passed without a dissenting vote.

Manager McClellan has another good theatrical attraction in store for Xenia this season. He received a telegram yesterday from a company playing the "Prisoner of Zenda" asking for a date in Xenia in May.

One of the most brilliant events of the season in a social way was the Charity Ball given at the Casino Rink last night under the auspices of the Lodge of Elks. Under the able supervision of Mr. George Swartz the rink was a mass of patriotic colors. There were 118 couples in the grand march, led by Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Zell.

The Cincinnati Avenue school building was sold today by the school board to William Byers for $2,275. He will use it as a store house in his business of junk dealer.

A COMPLEXION CHAT

From Paris comes a story of an odd sort of beauty treatment. French women with oily skins wipe their faces over every night with benzine. This highly volatile liquid is drying, therefore takes the surplus grease from the face—as it does from one's dress!—and is very cleaning.

All of which would be sensible enough, were it not that gasoline or benzine explodes so easily. I never advise its use at all, except for cleaning clothes out of doors and well away from the house! I certainly shouldn't advise it for complexion purposes indoors, we're all apt to be careless, and carelessness and benzine are a bad combination.

That reminds me, by the way, that some of the smartest beauty shops give a "dry" shampoo with benzine. It takes the grease and dirt from scalp and hair, leaving it beautifully clean and glossy, and does away with the risk of a cold in the head. But there you are in the hands of an expert, in a special room where no open flame can come.

Here's an excellent treatment for a dry, fine skin. Wipe it over at night with a thin oatmeal gruel—save the soft liquid from your breakfast porridge. Rub this into the skin and wipe off gently, and never mind the slight stickiness, this will dry off. This feeds the skin and makes it delightfully fine grained.

By the way, a walk in the rain, with the rain beating against the face, is marvelous for any complexion. That's why the English have such skins—damp climate, thick fogs and frequent rain. A cold, beating rain will stimulate and sting the skin to activity, a warm rain is refreshing if not so stimulating.

Mary, le.—A girl of 14, height four feet ten inches would be normal weight at 110 pounds, but this should not be considered too seriously, as growing children vary so in their development.

We all know how they sometimes appear not to grow at all for a year or more, and then in another half year make up for the apparent lack. The general health should be the guide in such cases.

Charlotte Y.—Thank you very much for your helpful suggestion about treating frosty feet. I shall be glad to pass it along to the readers as soon as there is space for it.

Anxious Thelma.—If the bones in your ankle have healed there should be no reason why you should not dance again; in fact, you need exercise now to strengthen the bones and all the muscles surrounding them. Since you are avoiding exercise, this lack of it may be causing your extra weight. Massage the ankles every day to strengthen and build up the muscles again. And take as much exercise as you need to keep down this excess weight.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Gallion, O., April 14.—Mrs. Emily Lee, 73, wealthy and eccentric, fell against a stove, following a heart attack at her home, and was burned to death. She lived alone and the body was not discovered until 12 hours later.

RELIEVES BACKACHE

"Have had kidney trouble and back ache for many years and I tried several doctors but got only temporary relief. A friend advised me to try Foley Kidney Pills, and before I used two boxes I was entirely well," writes A. C. Perkins, Summer Shade, Ky. Kidney and bladder trouble requires prompt treatment. Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon Foley's. Sayre & Hemphill, No. 8 South Detroit St. adv

THE GAZETTE And THE REPUBLICAN Information Box

All questions asked by our readers will be answered in this column. Medical and legal subjects are barred. Address all queries to "Information," this paper.

KWESITIONER—The originator of Porterhouse Steak was Mrs. Anna F. Remick, who kept a hotel at North Cambridge, Mass., known as the Porter House. The excellent cut of steak she served became to be known as a Porter House Steak.

FORSYTHE—You are right. Queen Wilhelmina, of Holland, one of the two reigning women in Europe, speaks English, German, French, Italian and Dutch fluently.

COLLECTOR—The largest ruby in the world has recently been received in London. It weighs 22 carats and is valued at $60,000.

YESSIR—The game of ping-pong is said to have been first played forty years ago in an Oxford student's rooms, where two young men started to play it with cigar box lids for bats, a champagne cork for a ball, and a rown of books for a net. From this impromptu beginning evolved a game called table tennis, which originally was played with a small india rubber ball. Eventually a celluloid ball was introduced, and the game was then called "Fossima." It made little or no progress until 1899, when it occurred to someone to christen it "ping-pong." In two years it became a craze. Strange to say, there is no record of the two young gentlemen's names who gave this indoor sport to the world.

MISS ALICE—The word Cambric, as applied to a certain kind of linen, is derived from Cambray, France, at which place it was first manufactured.

PIANIST—The first appearance of a piano in public was made at a performance of "The Beggar's Opera" in 1767.

To day's Talk

OUR UNBODIED FRIEND

There are times when the very substance of the world melts from our consciousness. We know that we are surrounded by moving and active forces, but somehow they seem none of us.

Even those most dear to us appear helpless. To whom do the birds sing? Why do flowers reach the heart after words have fallen dead and cold at our feet? What makes us thrill at the first stretch of the leaves in springtime? Who gave to the ocean its silvered eloquence?

From where does that one of all ones come—our unbodied friend?

Is not this silent comer an embodiment of all that is sweet and silent and sympathetic—no water from what source its inspiration is drawn? Ah, what would we do without this unbodied friend of ours—this spiritual caller, this unhurried stranger who is always so ready to come to us in utmost frankness and simplicity of manner? Unseen, unheard—but real, so very real.

Go where we will, be what we may, in loneliness and disappointment, into our thoughts and feelings comes this unbodied friend who understands.

Over the tombstone of Shelley are two Latin words signifying "Hearts of Hearts." What an epitaph! And who would say that Shelley, in death, is not worthy of such an expression? A bodily life so storm stressed, and finally snuffed out by the very waves he so much loved—then remembered in silence by this "Heart of Hearts."

I think of this unbodied friend of mine and this Shelley epitaph comes to me, and I give it to this unbodied friend of mine!

Perhaps you who read this little Talk will see bigness in it the minute that you come to feel that you, too, may have an unbodied friend.

Baker's Cocoa

is the ideal drink for growing children

Not only does its delicious flavor and aroma appeal to the palate but it supplies the body with a considerable amount of pure, wholesome and nutritious food.

Children, owing to their almost ceaseless activity, frequently require as large an amount of nourishment as adults, and good cocoa is a valuable aid in the carefully arranged diet. But its quality must be good and no cocoa can quite so well meet the requirements of dietitian, physician, nurse or housekeeper as "BAKER'S"

The only cap that's right for rainy-day wear—"SURE-FIT"

THE ONLY cap, we repeat. A strong statement, that—but consider the facts:

Suppose it's blowing like all sixty. You take hold of the little strap on your "SURE-FIT", snug it in a bit as you would your belt—and that cap'll sit tight till your head blows off!

Suppose you're out for some time in the rain. Any cap'll shrink then. You'd be darned uncomfortable in an ordinary cap. But you just ease out the strap in your "SURE-FIT" and go on smilingly.

Tight or loose, or in-between, your "SURE-FIT" always fits—comfortably, perfectly.

And, if you get one of the show-proofed "SURE-FITS" you'll be cock o' the walk so far as head-gear is concerned. The show-proofing process keeps the cap in shape, improves its finish, makes it last longer, and sheds showers like a duck.

See the new Fifth Avenue styles and patterns that have just come in. Prices the same as you'd pay for any stylish cap—and you get "SURE-FIT'S" unrivalled comfort.

Administrator's Sale

In pursuance of an order of the Probate Court of Greene County, Ohio, I will offer for sale at public auction on the 28th day of March 1923, at two o'clock p. m., on the premises located at No. 417 East Third Street in the City of Xenia, the following described real estate:
Situate in the County of Greene, State of Ohio, and in the City of Xenia, to-wit: Part of lot No. 2, of said city, being a tract of land 75x100 feet, commencing at Foley's Northeast corner as now established; thence E. along Third Street 75 feet; thence S. 150 feet parallel to Foley's east line; thence W. 75 feet to Foley's line; thence N. 160 feet to the place of beginning. Excepting however a strip of ground 15 feet in width from the west side of said original lot of 75 feet front and the full length of said lot including about 100 feet in the south alley the use of said alley is retained by said grantor in connection with their other lots on the west of the tract hereby conveyed. Being the same premises conveyed by Peter Foley and Amy Foley, his wife to Katherine Kelbie by deed dated March 9th, 1908, recorded in Vol. 108 page 447 Greene County Deeds Records. Excepting therefrom a tract conveyed by said Katherine Kelbie to Wm. H. Scott by deed dated Dec. 18th, 1908, recorded in Vol. 104 page 168, Greene County Deeds Records. Said property has been appraised at the sum of $2,000.00. The sum of $2,000.00 and must sell for not less than two-thirds of its appraised value.

TERMS OF SALE.

The terms of sale are: One-third cash one third in one year and one third in two years, deferred payments to bear interest at the rate of 7% per annum from date of sale and be secured by a first mortgage on the real estate, or all cash, if purchaser desires, the said premises being sold to pay debts in the estate of Katherine Kelbie.

LOCAL MEMBERS OF W. C. T. U. ENDORSE FINEFROCK MEASURE

Two interesting talks marked the meeting of twenty-three members of the A. C. Turrell W. C. T. U., at the home of Mrs. William Bull, on Maple Street, Friday afternoon.

The program was opened by devotional exercises by Mrs. John McDermott, followed by a talk by Miss Louise B. Shaffer, secretary of the Greene County Chapter of the American Red Cross, who spoke of the work of that organization in the county. Miss Shaffer cited the growth of the Red Cross in Greene County, the examination of school children by the Red Cross nurse, and what it meant to childhood. She laid stress on the cooperation of the teachers with the nurse, and explained the follow-up work in the homes, where the conditions of the children are discussed, resulting in the parents conferring with their family physician. She praised the work of the local Rotary Club, in the Crippled Children movement.

A reading by Mrs. Roy Ireland entitled, "The Young Bride's Going to Market," interspersed the reading of a paper, by Wilbur F. Crafts, president of the International Reform Bureau, on "The Adventures of a Cheerful Reformer." Mr. Crafts has secured the passage of 18 laws, winning obedience to law in more than 100 cases without arrest, "no more than than the arrest of thought."

A resolution was passed by the members of the A. C. Turrell Union, asking Governor Donahay to sign the Finefrock bill, which provides that persons committed for a failure to pay their fines, shall be credited with $1.50 a day if they work and sixty cents, for each day of imprisonment if they do not work. If the bill becomes a law, it will provide honest labor for moonshiners and bootleggers, say sponsors of the bill.

One hundred and forty-nine members of the W. C. T. U. in the county, endorsed the resolution urging passage of the bill.

BEAUTIFUL SCENERY OF WEST RELATED

The glories of the beautiful scenery through which the so-called southern route to the National Park, at Yellowstone, are extolled in copies of The Pinedale Roundup, weekly publication of Pinedale, Sublette County, Wyoming, copies of which have been sent here by Mrs. Vito N. Miller, (Dona Redfern), of Daniel, Wyoming, formerly of this city.

Mr. Miller is County Commissioner of Sublette County, and owner of the Figure Five Ranch, twelve miles west of Pinedale, the county seat of the new county, and right in the heart of some of the prettiest scenery of the west. A series of articles, extolling the fascinating beauties of the scenery in that section, written by E. V. Cockins, of the U. S. Forest Service, is running in the Pinedale Roundup.

Residents of that section of Wyoming, and the Pinedale Chamber of Commerce and other organizations are sponsoring the publicity and widely advertising what is known as the southern route west because of the scenery met with on the route. The Yellowstone Park Highway, by way of Pinedale, Hoback Canyon, Jackson Hole and the Tetons, connecting with the Lincoln Highway at Rock Springs and other points on its course, has just been completed and opens up this vast section of natural scenic beauty to the automobile tourist especially.

Pinedale is reached by rail on the Union Pacific Railroad to Rock Springs, and thence to Pinedale by auto service daily. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Miller is at Daniel, 12 miles west of Pinedale.

Descriptions of the selections to be used in the state-wide Music Contest, in the schools, will be printed in the Gazette and The Republican. Contestants may receive valuable aid in studying the explanations of famous songs and instrumental selections.

TO A WILD ROSE

Song by Edward A. MacDowell, American composer, born in New York in 1861, died in 1908. MacDowell was above all else a poet in music. After studying abroad for a number of years he lived mostly in New England and the natural charm and beauty of outdoor life appealed to him strongly and is reflected in his writing. MacDowell was for a while Professor of Music at Columbia University, N. Y. He was never strong and spent much of his time in the little town of Peterboro, N. H. and in time drew about him what has come to be known as the MacDowell Colony, comprised almost entirely of artists and musicians who find in the environment and their association there, inspiration to more and better work. "To A Wild Rose" is a favorite number with many concert players.

SHOP GIRLS ON STRIKE.

Paris, April 14.—Steel helmeted policemen are guarding the Rue de la Paix, the richest street in the world, from attacks by the striking shop girls, who are fighting for a living wage against the big dressmakers. The big shops, in spite of their huge profits last year, are refusing to give in to the demands of the girls, and practically every shop is without workers.

JUNIOR PLAY OF BEAVER HIGH IS WELL DELIVERED

"Aaron Boggs, Freshman," a three act comedy of college life was presented by the junior class of Beaver High School at the K. of P. Hall to a crowded house on Friday night.

The play is a delightful comedy full of pure, wholesome fun from beginning to end, and was appreciated by the large audience.

The characters were particularly well chosen and performed their parts with the ease and ability of experienced actors. At the conclusion of the play the entire cast assembled on the platform and sang their class song, at the close of which Stephen Steadman, president of the Junior class presented an immense cluster of beautiful pink and white carnations studded with the class colors green and white to Miss Lotitia Dillencourt in appreciation of her work in drilling the class for the play. The cast was as follows:

Aaron Boggs, Sr., who brings his son to college—Glenn Coy.

Aaron Boggs, Jr., a freshman—Horace Ferguson.

Bean Carter, Pepper Jervis, Cad Davis and Happy Jimmie Jamieson, college "swells" were represented by Eugene Routzahn, Arthur Hanes, Rayman Hawker and Stephen Steadman.

Second Hand Abie, who buys clothes from the students—James Miller.

Two college professors—Earl Coy and Alfred Thornhill.

McGoggin, a college football hero—Jerome Stafford.

Casey Jones, a college politician, Karl Ankeney.

Mr. Chubb, born tired—Roy Merriam.

Mrs. Chubb and Mrs. Pickens, who keep the college boarding houses—Martha Routzahn and Celeste Hawk.

Miss Dollie de Cliffe, nee Chubb, a vaudeville artist—Evelyn Anders.

Elizabeth the Maudeella Feeny, the perfect lady, who waits table at Mrs. Chubb's high class boarding house—Mary Ater.

Cherry Carruthers, a homesick freshman—Gladys Paris.

Lois Hunter, a pretty junior—Deborah Walton.

Evelyn Newcomb, a haughty senior—Myrtle Cyephe.

Loretta Rea, a happy junior—Ernestine Wornstaff.

A merry group of co-eds—Alice Wolf, Lillian Gilbert, Mabel Bigler, Lucy Middleton and Alma Belt.

Three members of the cast, Karl Ankeney, Roy Merriam and Eugene Routzahn are members of the Senior Class.

The music for the entire entertainment was furnished by the Beaver-creek school orchestra.

SHOWS ACTIVITY OF SOCIAL SERVICE

Illustrating the influence of the Social Service League, in keeping a family together, and the upbringing of a respectable family by furnishing the necessities of life, Mrs. Carrie I. Robertson, executive secretary of the League Friday cited the case of a widow with a large family, who was given an allowance last September by the league, for her family.

The family had been approved by the State Welfare Department, the mother being an efficient head of a family. Through the Social Service League a number of people have become interested in the family, and are assisting in the care of the children. "Without the help and influence of the league, this mother would have been compelled to place her children in the Home or go out and work in a factory," Mrs. Robertson said. It has been said that each good citizen is worth $3,000 to the State. Who is doing a greater work than a good mother, she continued.

One of the Social Service League is to improve citizenship. Money to "carry on" the work will be solicited for the league when the Community Chest campaign is continued, in the near future.

SECRETLY MARRIED IN LONDON

Major Max Oser and Miss Mathilde McCormick.

London, April 14.—Despite their romantic courtship, which aroused the jaded interest of two continents, the marriage of pretty 18 year old, Mathilde McCormick, granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, and Major Max Oser, middle aged Swiss riding master, was as prosaic as the nuptials of any two persons in the most humble ranks of life, it became known to-day through friends.

The exclusive announcement of the marriage, circulated by International News Service Friday, was confirmed in every detail.

Mathilde and Major Oser were married at the registry office in Lewisham, a suburb southeast of London, near Greenwich, inhabited by persons of the middle class such as shopkeepers and well to do artisans.

When the couple entered the dingy, smoke-grimed registry office, they found a crowd of persons before them. Major Oser held Mathilde gently by the arm. They spoke together in low tones and then sat down to wait their turn.

Two registrars, Frank Belcham and W. R. Owen, performed the ceremony.

For the first time, Major Oser's exact age was officially revealed. The license said he was 45. Mathilde celebrated her eighteenth birthday one week ago today.

Major Oser gave his full name as William Max Oser, bachelor and soldier by profession. Mathilde, who had been living most of the winter in a little flat in Kensington, said she was a "spinster of independent means."

For nearly a month before the ceremony Oser had been living in Hither Green to establish a legal residence in the district covered by the Lewisham registry office.

The couple left London as quietly as they were married. Some believe they have gone to Scotland. Others think they are on their way to Switzerland. Their real destination is known only to the happy bride and groom.

BANQUET GIVEN IN HONOR OF WINNING JAMESTOWN TEAMS

Covers for 120 persons were laid at the banquet, honoring the girls' and boys' basketball team of Jamestown High School, sponsored by the business men, and the members of the Community Service Association of that place, at Benard Hall, Friday night.

The teams honored at the affair, were county winners during the past basketball season, the boys' team winning the tri-county tournament, the girls' team winning second place in Greene County during the season. A three-course banquet was served by the members of the Community Service, for the guests, the banquet being followed by talks. The program was opened with prayer by the Rev. L. L. Gray, the first speaker of the evening being W. F. Harper, representing the Jamestown business men. R. C. Turnbull, president of the Board of Education, represented that body in a short talk, followed by the Rev. N. C. Bangham, who represented the ministers of Jamestown. Mrs. L. S. Farguhar, was the representative of the Community Service body, her talk being followed by an address by County Superintendent of Schools, H. C. Aultman.

A talk by Miss Ruth Turnbull, coach of the Girls' team, was responded to by Miss Leontine Jenks, captain of the team. Coach Ross Stoner of the boys' team, gave a short talk, Marion Burr, team captain responding. R. G. George, of the business men's basketball team, and L. S. Farguhar, gave the closing talks. Professor Gowdy of the Jamestown school, presided as toastmaster.

The decorations for the affair were of red and white, the school colors, the hall being festooned with crepe paper streamers of red and white. The middle table at which members of the teams were seated, was centered with a large basket of red and white carnations, presented to the teams, by C. F. Fenker, Jamestown florist. The favors were crepe paper boxes of mints. Blooming paper formed the decorations of the other tables, the silver loving cup, the team trophy, holding a prominent place. The menu consisted of cherry sherbet, chicken noodles, mashed potatoes, pea patties, waldorf salad, wafers, cake, coffee and brick ice cream, centered with a red basketball, and the initials, "J. H. S."

FARM HANDS SHY.

Columbus, April 14.—With wages for farm hands showing an approximate 5 per cent increase over last year, there is a decided shortage of farm hands in all parts of the state, according to C. J. West, state federal crop reporter. He says there are about three men for every five jobs. The average wage for farm hands in Ohio is $40 a month, and a worker is ordinarily given board and room.

PHOTOGRAPHER ALSO STRICKEN

New York, April 14.—The "curse of the Pharaohs," to which the superstitious attribute the death of Lord Carnarvon, came home to New York when Mrs. Tom Terriss, wife of the official photographer of the Carnarvon expedition at the tomb of King Tutankhamen, received a cablegram saying her husband was stricken at Luxor with the same mysterious malady that killed Lord Carnarvon.

NO OPERATION FOR HER

She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Escaped the Operation Doctor Advised

Louisville, Ky.—"I wish to thank you for what your medicine has done for me. I was in bed for eight or nine days every month and had a great deal of pain. The doctor said my only relief was an operation. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine and tried the Vegetable Compound and the Sensitive Wash, and they surely did wonders for me. I feel fine all the time now, also am picking up in weight. I will tell any one that your medicines are wonderful, and you may publish my letter if you wish."—Mrs. Ed. BOEHLEIN, 1130 Ash St., Louisville, Ky.

Backache, nervousness, painful times, irregularity, tired and run-down feelings, are symptoms of female troubles. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken whenever there is reason to fear such troubles. It contains nothing that can injure, and tends to tone up and strengthen the organs concerned, so that they may work in a healthy, normal manner. Let it help you as it has thousands of others. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now selling almost all over the world.

The Ladies of the Methodist Church enjoyed a covered dish dinner at the Community Room Thursday.

The fire bell rang this morning calling for help to fight fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peterson on the Bellbrook pike. The fire started in the brooder house and owing to the wind being favorable the house was saved. The brooderhouse and woodhouse attached and the smokehouse burned. Mrs. Peterson lost about eighty little chickens. The buildings belonged to S. F. Peterson and were partly covered by insurance.

CHAPTER LIX

Ann was frightened, almost at the end of her patience. She saw the danger to Dick in Grace's light way of talking of his drinking, his forgetfulness. But what could she do? Whenever she had interfered, even so carefully, she had made matters worse. She thought of Hugh Norton. He would help if he could. Yet Ann hesitated to say anything to Hugh. There was something in his manner, his thoughtfulness for her, his way of speaking and looking at her that gave her an inkling of his secret—that he cared for her. And although Hugh never had said one word of what was in his heart, the thought brought a blush to Ann's cheek, kept her from going to him for help, for advice.

Doctor Grayson might warn Dick, but would that do any good? Ann knew Dick felt a little embarrassed before the doctor, although he liked him. But it was hard to forget how they became acquainted—that Grace had pretended to poison herself because of Dick.

Grace had said it was "Ann's stunt" to scold Dick. Ann worried over that speech. She feared she had occasionally made Dick feel she was scolding him, when she only meant to warn him. She wanted Dick to be happy; but also she desperately wanted him to be good and true.

That habit of his that made him forget—what did he do when in that state? She was at her "wits' end," as her mother used to say when she was undecided what to do. There was no use talking to Grace, she only made a joke of it; then, too, she managed to convey to Dick the impression that Ann was narrow, and not a good sport. And that roused Dick's indignation. Bessie did all she could, so there was no use bothering her. She would have to bear it alone, say nothing; but by keeping with Dick, going where he did, she might be able to prevent a recurrence of the incident. His forgetting that he went to the theatre, his failure to remember anything of the picture, and that he was with Grace, seemed to her to prove he was growing worse.

Grace had thought it "screamingly funny," even though she must have seen how she suffered. What a queer, hardhearted girl she was.

After Dick had finished fixing the bougainville vine, Grace had made him beg her pardon for deserting her, telling him he would have to take her somewhere soon to make up for his action in leaving her alone in the theatre.

"After blowing us to that luncheon, you were a bad boy to spoil it all by getting spifflicated," she said. But there was nothing in her tone or manner that showed resentment. She treated the whole affair as a joke. Ann knew that it made Dick also consider it in that light, as he answered her banter.

Ann was fair, and said to herself: "How can I expect him to feel any remorse when she talks to him in that fashion?" So she said nothing more about it, tried to forget. In Grace now was over with them hill, No. 8 South Detroit St. adv

nearly every day. Sometimes to meals, oftener with Dick in the groves. Ann's presence there had seemed to deter her for a time, but as Ann tried to be with Dick as much as she could, she evidently had decided not to let her prevent her coming.

Nora had taken the entire care of the every-day housework from Ann, also she helped with little Jack. Ann loved the open, was happy helping Dick wrap the young trees, look for blight, anything she could do—and she had learned to be very helpful.

Grace had a way of keeping Dick from work, of playfully teasing him by snatching his hat off, pulling at his coat, teasing him to stop and talk to her and at the same time ignoring Ann, that was maddening.

Upon such an occasion Ann had gone back to the house, her eyes filled with tears. Grace had even more than usually free with Dick; he more than ordinarily responsive until Ann could endure it no longer.

She found Hugh Norton sitting on the porch waiting until they should come in to dinner. Almost without volition she sobbed out her misery her unhappiness.

"I am so helpless, Hugh," she said, wiping her eyes and trying to smile. "My bringing up hasn't fitted me to cope with a girl like Grace. I can only look on and suffer."

"You mustn't be too meek, Ann," Hugh replied, his heart aching for her. "Meet her on her own ground if you can. Laugh and joke too, and don't tire her drive you away. She'll soon tire of her nonsense if she sees it doesn't get her anywhere." He invariably made light of Grace's actions to Ann, but in reality he was almost as fearful as Ann that she would ruin her home. Dick seemed like wax in her hands.

"I do try, Hugh. But it grows harder all the time," Ann replied as Grace and Dick appeared, arm in arm, laughing merrily.

LEVIATHAN WILL HAVE NIGHTLY SHOW AT SEA

When the liner Leviathan, greatest under the American flag, is completely reconditioned at Newport News she will fly the flag of the United States Lines and will be the only vessel which will present a nightly theatrical show while at sea. More than 2,500 men are at work now on the vessel to have her ready in time for her maiden trip about June 1. Hundreds of new conveniences are being installed. There will be a radio telephone in each of the first cabins, which will also have open plumbing in their equipment. A complete new gallery and pantry is being installed, as well as a steam-heating system. The liner is being converted from a coal to an oil burner, which will consume 1,000 tons of fuel oil daily to turn up a speed of 25 knots. The reconditioning will cost $10,000,000 and when completed the ship will be worth $30,000,000. The 2,600 men at work are shown leaving for midday lunch. It takes five minutes to clear the decks. A general view of the vessel's decks also shows the 150-ton crane for carrying supplies on board.

WHEN FARMING PAYS

By Leonard P. Bennett
SHORTAGE OF LABOR

The shortage of well trained farm labor is made the subject of comment by the New York State Farm Bureau federation. The reason is easy to find in the industrial demand for labor, which is taking men who would otherwise plough the fields and harvest the crops. High wages are a lure just as they were during the war. Higher wages in the city necessitate higher wages on the farm, and by raising costs of production further complicate the farmer's problem of raising foodstuffs at a profit.

The New York farm bureau notes that city residents who acquired small land holdings and managed to work them at a profit when prices were high are now giving up the unequal struggle and going back to city work again. Established farmers seem inclined to plant about the usual acreage, the Bureau comments, despite the fact that several crops failed to make money last year. The need for economy in operation is imperative and tends somewhat to discourage the use of fertilizer.

COTTON

Cotton is invading northern territory where climatic conditions permit of its growth. Southern Illinois is growing cotton on a scale that deserves notice. High prices are a bait this year when other farm prices are none too rewarding. The boll weevil is likewise partially responsible for the migration. Thus it happens that while many Southern farmers are seeking to diversify their crops and thus lessen their dependence upon cotton, more northerly farmers are taking it up. They will do well to grow it in rotation as one of several farm crops, and not as an exclusive cash crop, opines the Breeders Gazette.

AN APPRAISAL

The April agricultural review of the department of Agriculture has more than usual significance, both because of the season and because it contains some very concrete and pointed suggestions for the successful conduct of farm operations this year.

Farmers who produce efficiently at low cost will have a chance this year, the report declares, while "farmers who are too far down the scale in efficiency will hardly find salvation in cheap credit, cheap transportation, cooperative marketing, tariffs, price-fixing, nor all of these combined."

Not more than two major crops are likely to be expanded this year at a profit, the report concludes. They are cotton and possibly sheep.

HENRY FORD

Henry Ford, while no great student of history and no logician, is always original. He was original when he voluntarily paid off all obligations of the Lincoln Motors Corp., amounting to several millions of dollars, presumably so that no memories of unpaid debt might tarnish the Lincoln name. He was likewise original when he bought an empire of coal lands in the South, not simply to obtain fuel for his factories, but to provide thousands of workmen with cheaper fuel and to permit the application of his scheme for reforestation.

The country would profit by the presence of more men of wealth possessing Ford's human sympathy and "social conscience" and willing to experiment with rem-

An Analysis of the Economic,
Political and Social Conditions Which Make
Farming Profitable

edies for current evils, even if sometimes they go wrong.

TABLES TURNED

If the farmer is now at a disadvantage as compared with the industrial worker, it is to be considered whether the industrial situation was not out of balance in the farmer's favor during the years before the war, comments a publication of the National City bank, which makes a careful study of agricultural conditions. From 1899 to 1914 the Bureau of Labor price tables show that farm products advanced 177 per cent, while all commodities, including farm products, advanced 134 per cent. Wages in the cities did not keep pace with the rising cost of food. In the slump since 1920 the farmer has failed to hold all his gains of the 1899-1914 period.

On his side now are the pressure of a growing population and the economics and gains in efficiency resulting from the introduction of improved methods and machinery.

FACTORS IN GRAIN

The time of year has come when crop scares have a great influence upon the market price of wheat futures. Until there is a period of warm, growing weather the outlook in wheat cannot be accurately determined and claims of damage are not to be swallowed verbatim. Speculation in grains has been light. Statistics have but little effect upon prices and sentiment.

Delay in oats seeding is a big factor in this grain.

PACKERS' CONSOLIDATION

Consolidation of the Armour and Morris packing houses has been effected, producing a concern that will doubtless be the dominant factor in its field. The purchase price was about $29,000,000.00.

The deal does not remove the element of competition from the packing industry and, in all probability, will not affect the level of prices paid the grower for his livestock, unless through economics in distribution it enables the consolidated company to pay a little more.

The drop of 26 per cent in plow lands, during the past three years reported by the department of Agriculture, makes it evident that low prices have squeezed the "water" out of farm land, wherever it exists and have unduly depressed values in many cases where there was no "water".

Iowa lost $96.00 an acre—the largest decrease, while Illinois lands dropped $44.0 an acre. Prices are above $100.00 in only three states—Iowa, $153.00, Illinois, $126.00; and California $113.00.

"The basic theory of co-operation is that the strong and efficient can help the weaker and less efficient, and thereby help themselves. In practice the efficient will not 'stick' unless it pays them to do so. If a man is not strong, efficient and resourceful as an individual, he may grow less efficient and less self-reliant by depending on the aid of others."

This writer concludes that co-operation is one, and only one, of the factors in agricultural progress.

Much is said about the rising standard living of the wage-earning classes, and with truth. So also has the farmer's standard of living risen. His trouble lies in the fact that, unlike the wage-earner, his income has not risen correspondingly.

The farmer of 50 years ago supplied more of his own needs than the farmer of today, who is still one of the great producers of life's necessities. The old-time farmer was wood cutter and pioneer as well as farmer, and had less opportunity, and less temptation to buy manufactured articles adding to his convenience and his comfort. Mechanical inventions have spread a network of telephone wires over the entire country and provided electric light where formerly the rural dweller burned lamps and candles. Modern progress has given the farmer his binder and mower, his washing machine, and electric sweeper and his automobile.

But these things all cost money. It is difficult to maintain this higher standard of living because production costs and taxes have risen more proportionately of late than prices, for agricultural products. The escape from this difficulty lies in a gradual, progressive lessening of production costs and of articles the farmer buys and a slow increase of prices he can charge—if not the latter, then the former in greater measure. Some adjustment in living and a careful budgeting of expenditures is the immediate necessity.

Years will be required to put the farmer on a sound business footing and in right relation to other groups of producers.

What co-operation can accomplish has not yet been determined. The only safe conclusion as yet is that in it lie the seeds of progress and that it will ameliorate certain evils in the economic system.

One authority on agricultural subjects makes the following comment on co-operation, which goes to show that co-operation should concern itself with an advantageous disposal of crops and not with an effort to create artificial prices.

URGE NAKED EYE TO GET AT ROT IN CORN; TESTS MADE LOCALLY

Checking experiments of their own, recently concluded, with those of three other agricultural colleges, crops scientists at the Ohio State University are urging use of the naked eye in advance of the germination-tester when it comes to culling out seed ears for the coming crop.

It is not advocated that farmers dispense with germination testing, a practice of proven value, but it is stated that too many farmers have come to regard the tester as the first and last authority on what corn to plant and what to throw away.

"In summary, the signs and warnings of rot are these; (1) faint white or grayish molds on the kernels, most easily detected when seed corn is shelled as should be, by hand; (2) immaturity of the ear, as evidenced by looseness of grain; (3) discolored or shredded shanks, marketing the path by which rot entered from the plant into the ear; (4) discolored germ, seen on splitting the kernel with a knife.

Approximately 100,000 ears of seed corn have been tested in Greene County, during the past few weeks, including 35,000 at the Xenia Farmer's Exchange, 22,000 at the Bath township High School, and 6,000 for both Ross and Bath townships.

ANNUAL REPORT SHOWS LARGE AMOUNT OF BUTTER FAT HANDLED BY MILK PRODUCERS

The annual report of the Yellow Springs station, of the Miami Valley Cooperative Milk Producers' Association, was given at the meeting of Farm Bureau members of Miami township, at the Yellow Springs Farm Bureau hall, Tuesday night.

The amount of butter fat handled by the Yellow Springs station, during the year, ending April 1, amounted to 83,032 pounds, the amount of butter fat being sold amounting to 83,220.2 pounds, with an average of 187.8 pounds. The local receipts from the butter fat amounted to $37,422.45.

The total amount paid out by the station for butter fat was $31255.95, with a gross profit of $6166.50. The expenses of operating the station, totaled $1075.00, with a miscellaneous expense of $539.86, the total expense figuring $1614.86. The net profit of the station amounted to $4551.64. The station paid out as rebates, $3920.40, with a balance of $631.14. The equipment for the station cost $200, the checkout paid being $400. The investment for the year was less than $500.

The Yellow Springs station is the only cooperative station in the Miami Valley Cooperative Milk Producers' Association in operation for the year in this district, and is also one of the largest organizations in the territory, having handled the most butter fat, with the lowest operating cost for the year, with 1.94 cents overhead.

COUNTY AGENT HAS CANNING BULLETIN

Free to all who want it is a 28-page bulletin on the home canning of fruits, vegetables, and meats, just published by the agricultural extension service of the Ohio State University. Application should be made to the nearest county agricultural or home demonstration agent.

The bulletin backs the cold-pack or can-cooked method against the open-kettle system. It describes a simple standard equipment, and gives plain directions for each step in the process, followed by specific pointers on canning different kinds of fruits, meats, and vegetables.

The bulletins may be secured at the Greene County Farm Bureau within a few days.

SHOWS CONSTRUCTION OF FIRELESS COOKER MADE AT OWN HOME

A demonstration on the construction of home-made fireless cookers was an interesting feature of the meeting of the members of the Miami township Farm Bureau, at Yellow Springs, Tuesday night. The demonstration was given by Mrs. W. M. Hardman, Home Economics leader in Miami Township.

The cooker was made from home materials, with the exception of asbestos matting, which can be obtained from any plumbing shop. The materials used include, two receptacles, one small and the other large.

The smaller receptacle is used for the inside compartment, a layer of excelsior for filler being placed between the two large containers, which are lined throughout with asbestos, the same material covering the outside of the inner receptacle. The cookers are constructed at a cost of from 35 cents up, depending on the amount of material found at home.

The demonstration was attended by a number of women of the township. It was announced that a second demonstration would be held at the Farm Bureau hall in Yellow Springs, Wednesday afternoon, April 18.

REACH GOAL FIXED ON SEED CORN WORK

The goal of each township of 5,000 ears of seed corn to be tested, has been reached, it is announced by County Agent Ford S. Prince, and the Farm Bureau is now ready to throw the testing work open to other farmers who have been unable to have their corn tested, or additional corn from farmers who have already had their grain tested.

Any one desiring to have seed corn tested is asked to get in touch with the Farm Bureau office, as the room is limited, and corn must come in gradually.

PERSONALS

Mr. Thomas Faulkner, of near Paintersville, has purchased a Moline tractor outfit from the Huston and Bickett Hardware Company, of this city.

Miss Anna Wright desires to thank the Maple Corner Aid Society for the beautiful flour plant they sent her, also the persons who delivered it to her.

SEES INCREASE OF SPRING PIGS IN OHIO

Columbus, O., April 14—That there should be an increase of four or five percent in the number of spring pigs in Ohio this year, compared with those of a year ago is the statement made here by C. J. West, state agricultural statistician for the state-federal crop reporting service.

"It appears that the number of breeding sows in Ohio is four percent greater than last year," said West. "It seems, also, that the percentage of pigs saved will be about the same as last year and the size of the litters about the same or perhaps, a little larger. Considering the increased number of sows and the fact that about the same percentage of pigs are being saved, together with the slightly larger litters, there should be an increase of four or five, percent in the number of spring pigs, compared with a year ago."

REACH AGREEMENT ON SUPPLYING OF MILK

A cooperative agreement between the Miami Valley Milk Producers' Association and the Dayton Dealers has been reached, whereby Dayton distributors of milk will obtain their supply from farmers, who are members of the Milk Producers' Association.

Terms in the agreement will stabilize the price of milk during the various seasons of the year as well as assure a dependable milk supply for the city, distributors asserted.

The Miami Valley Milk Producers Association was organized about a year ago.

BREEDERS TO MEET

The Greene County Breeder's Association will meet at the Greene County Farm Bureau office Wednesday night, the object of the meeting being to adopt a constitution, and a code of regulations.

MEETING IS HELD

A meeting of the Executive Board of the Greene County Farm Bureau was held at the Farm Bureau office, Saturday.

WEATHER:—Rain, slightly warmer.

EX-PRESIDENT WILSON DISAPPROVES HARDING PLAN FOR WORLD COURT

Announcement Causes Flurry of Excitement in Both
Republican and Democratic Political Circles.

Washington, April 14.—From his quiet, red brick house in S Street, where he keeps his finger on the pulse of public and political affairs to a far greater degree than is generally known, came the voice of Woodrow Wilson today, announcing his disapproval of America joining the Permanent Court of International Justice, under the program of conditions prepared by President Harding, Secretary Hughes and Secretary Hoover.

The United States should either go on or stay out unconditionally, Mr. Wilson believes—he thus maintaining the identical position that he assumed toward the League reservations to the league of nations covenant during the memorable senate fight of three years ago.

Mr. Wilson's views became known today through the medium of a letter written to Representative Arthur B. Lousie, Democrat, of Kentucky. It was a reply to a communication from Representative Rouse, requesting his views on the conditional adherence to the court proposed by Mr. Harding in his message to the Senate on his closing days.

"I do not approve of the conditional adherence to the court proposed by Mr. Harding in his message to the Senate on his closing days."

To do otherwise than to adhere to unconditionally would, in Mr. Wilson's opinion, be inconsistent with the "fame, the candor, or the courage," of the United States in international affairs. If the United States is to take advantage of the opportunities afforded by the court, then it should be willing to assume its full share of responsibilities, under the covenant of the league, he asserted.

The Wilson letter came somewhat as a shock today to both Democratic and Republican circles about the capitol, seething just now in controversy over the court issue, containing as it did an intimation that the influence of Mr. Wilson may be thrown against ratification of the Harding-Tughe-Hoover program when it comes to an issue in the next Congress.

It has been confidently expected, and, in fact, democratic leaders at the capitol have frankly declared that Democratic support will be accorded Mr. Harding's international court proposal in the Senate. Democratic senators unhesitatingly voiced their approval of the Harding message at the time it was delivered, and heralded it as a first step in the direction of eventual American entrance into the league.

If Mr. Wilson, however, throws the not inconsiderable weight of his influence against acceptance of the league court under the Harding terms as his letter intimated, he might, then it was recognized here today that this development may cause a sharp division of opinion within the Democratic ranks, even as it already has in the Republican party and thus jeopardize the administration's entire scheme of joining the court.

The situation in the Senate today is such that it is causing administration lieutenants distinct uneasiness anyway, for it is apparently certain the entire "reconcilable" element therein will fight the court proposal tooth and nail.

Heading the opposition will be such savage parliamentary figures as Senator Borah, Senator Johnson, Senator LaFollette—all veterans of the league of nations fight, and skilled in the cunning of forensic warfare.

It would take little Democratic defection from the Harding plan to endanger it not actually defeat, the whole program. That much was frankly admitted today by administration lieutenants in the guard and private comments they were willing to make over Mr. Wilson's entrance into the situation.

GOVERNOR VETOES THE GORDON BILL

Columbus, April 14.—The Gordon bill, removing the jail sentence as a penalty for violating the states motion picture censorship laws and increasing the fines for such offenses, has been vetoed by Governor Donahay. The governor declared that he considered the new proposal as making the law less stringent, and hesitated to authorize the removal of the jail sentence, as a heavy fine would be deterrent upon unscrupulous exhibitors who would outrage public decency and unhesitatingly seek profit at the expense of public morals.

Columbus, April 14.—Governor Donahay today received a total of 181 bills and resolutions passed last week by the State Legislature. Included in the measures, which were signed yesterday by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House were 55 Senate and 126 House bills. Among them was the $72,000,000 appropriation bill.

Columbus, April 14.—Governor Donahay is considering the Taft, Albaugh and Robison taxation bills passed recently by the legislature and has called in for conference a number of persons versed in taxation laws, including A. P. Sandies, Ottawa, former director of agriculture; C. A. Dyer of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation; H. A. Caton, master of the state grange; Fred Green, Cleveland attorney; A. B. Peckinpah of the state bureau of accounting; John A. Zandee, auditor of Cuyahoga county, and John Cassidy of the state tax commission.

OFFICIALS QUIZZED IN WARD CASE

Judge C.A. Vanauken

Frank Cody

Major Harry Scott

The investigation ordered by Governor A. E. Smith, of New York, into the failure of Westchester County officials to prosecute Walter S. Ward, millionaire baker, for killing Clarence Peters, an ex-salor, whom Ward shot while Peters, he alleged, was trying to blackmail him, has brought out many interesting points. The chief was the refusal of the Western Union Telegraph company to turn over to Attorney General Sherman copies of cablegrams passing between Ward and his father, in which Ward asked for between $50,000 and $100,000 to pay the blackmail gang, Chief of Police Frank Cody, of New Rochelle, admitted he gave Ward two pistols and that one of them looked very much like the pistol Ward claimed Peters tried to shoot him with. Mayor Harry Scott, of New Rochelle, admitted Ward quizzed him about the political aspirations of the foreman of the Grand Jury that indicted Ward, while the activities of Judge Charles Vanauken have been widely discussed in the investigation.

FOUR LARGEST MEAT PACKERS RAISE PAY OF 81,500 EMPLOYEES

Armour-Morris Swift, Wilson and Cudahy, Announce
Boosts Totalling $6,750,000 Effective
On Monday.

Chicago, April 14.—Close on the heels of an announcement of an advance in wages to steel workers, it was announced here today that effective Monday, the four largest meat packers will raise the pay of 81,500 employees.

The raise, according to figures furnished by the packers will amount to $6,750,000 yearly, divided as follows:

Armour-Morris Combine, $2,500,000 or 10 per cent.

Swift and Company, 25,000 men raised; total not given, 10 per cent.

Wilson and Company, $1,500,000, increase of 3 to 5 cents an hour.

Cudahy Packing Company, increases of three, four and five cents an hour, total not given.

Fifty-four hours will be recognized as week, with overtime at time and a half and holiday and Sunday work at double time. The guarantee of forty hours a week continues in effect. The increases were announced following conferences between committees representing employees in each plant and the general managements.

FRIDAY THE THIRTEENTH ALMOST PAST WHEN, BUT READ THE STORY

Cincinnati, O., April 14.—Friday the thirteenth was almost past and not a hispan had occurred.

Howard Parker, deputy clerk in the U. S. district court, was about to congratulate himself. Then it happened!

In walked three men. One was Frank Wullmer, Wullmer explained that he had come to obtain permission to file his petition of naturalization.

Parker inquired as to Wullmer's occupation.

"Grave digger," was Wullmer's reply.

Parker's eye shifted to a calendar on his desk. Then Wullmer's two witnesses came forward. One was John Hater, a sexton, and the other Charles Pistor, a tombstone carver.

Finally the three departed. Parker emitted a sigh of relief. Then, as he reached for a file book his watch fell from his vest pocket to the floor with a crash. The crystal was shattered.

Well, Parker is not superstitious.

JUDGESHIP MEASURE VETOED BY DONAHAY

Columbus, April 14.—Governor Donahay vetoed the motion picture bill by Representative Gordon of Logan county. The bill as passed by the legislature eliminated the imprisonment of violators of the censorship laws and increases fines, permitting violators to be convicted without trial.

The Holloway bill, creating an additional common pleas judge in Trumbull county, was also vetoed. The governor's action was interpreted to mean that he will take similar action on bills enacted creating municipal courts in several Ohio cities, including Barberton, Athens and Canton. In vetoing the Holloway bill, Donahay said that "every conceivable kind of judgeship has been created in Ohio and the state has twice as many judges and court officers as it actually needs."

HARDING SEEKS WAY TO SOLVE SHIP QUESTION

Meets Members of Board
Saturday in Attempt to Get Results

LASKER HAS PLAN

Announcement of Future
Policy of Administration
Expected

Washington, April 14.—President Harding met here today with members of the United States Shipping Board to work out a method of getting the government out of the shipping business.

Chairman A. D. Lasker laid before the President a plan evolved by the board after more than a month of conferences with ship owners, builders, and operators. It is believed that following today's conference will come an announcement of future policy.

Details of the plan have been carefully guarded, but it is understood it represents the composite views of the private owners and operators, and as such will allow the government to "get out from under" in the most graceful manner possible.

The President, following the failure of Congress to pass a subsidy measure, announced that the administration no longer would be the "goat" in the operation of the American merchant marine.

The Shipping Board has been showing a loss averaging between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 annually and without the requested subvention Mr. Harding is determined not to allow his administration to shoulder the criticism, political and otherwise.

MAN REFUSED LICENSE TO WED ADOPTED DAUGHTER

Coshocton, April 14.—W. L. Mills, 49, of Coshocton, was refused a marriage license to wed Mabel A. Parkinson Mills, 19, his adopted daughter, by Probate Judge Milo C. Ely, when the judge ruled that a man cannot legally marry his adopted daughter.

Mabel Parkinson was adopted by Mills and his wife in Zanesville four years ago. Since then Mills' wife has died. It was said here that the case of a man applying to marry his adopted daughter was without parallel, and that no direct reference to such a case was to be found in law records. Neither marriage laws, adoption laws nor criminal statutes mention such a possibility, it was said.

TWO ARE ARRESTED AS LIQUOR FOUND

Cincinnati, O., April 14.—Five barrels of Scotch whiskey, labelled "hard ware," were seized here late yesterday by federal prohibition agents. The "hardware" was consigned from Florida to a Cincinnati electrical firm.

Later, federal officials caused the arrest of G. A. Brown, Jacksonville, Fla., citrus grove owner, and E. A. Strauss, Jacksonville cigar dealer. Brown and Strauss were lodged in city jail pending issuance of warrants charging them with violation of the Volstead law.

GOVERNORS WILL TALK ENFORCEMENT

Washington, April 14.—President Harding's conference of governors to discuss means of enforcing the prohibition laws will be held here next month, it was announced at the white house. The president will lay before the governors a program worked out at his direction by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes. It is said to be an elaborate scheme for the co-operation of all state agencies with those of the government. The president hopes to have this plan put into operation immediately by the governors. He will suggest that the states should properly bear a portion of the expense of dry law enforcement.

DE VALERA'S MESSAGE.

Dublin, April 14.—In a message to the Irish irregulars lauding Liam Lynch, who died as a result of injuries received in the raid in which he was captured by the Free State troops, Eamon De Valera declared: "Faced by former comrades who have deserted you, your task is a hard and sad one, and a task upon which only heroes would venture. You have flung yourselves across the path of the tamperers of the nation, but it is better to die nobly, as your chief has done, than to live as slaves."

FALL PROVES FATAL.

Columbus, April 14.—Miss Roda Anderson, 81, died from the effects of a fall at her home here, when she fractured her hip.

UNCOVER IRISH PLOT TO ASSASSINATE HIGH OFFICIALS OF ENGLAND

Police Seize Documents Indicating Republican Sympathizers in London Planned Wholesale
Rioting.

London, April 14.—Documents indicating that Irish Republican sympathizers in London, planned to attack light, power and subway stations, attempt the delivery of Irish prisoners from jails and perhaps try to assassinate high British officials, were seized by the police today in widespread raids throughout London.

SAYS CIVILIZATION OF EUROPE IS THREATENED

Premier of South Africa Declares Continent On Brink
of Disaster—England, He Avers, Must
Point the Way.

Cape Town, Union of South Africa, April 14.—European civilization is threatened with destruction, General Jan Christian Smuts, premier of South Africa, declared here today in a speech.

"It is impossible for our commonwealth to remain an indifferent spectator to the rapidly developing crisis in Europe," said Premier Smuts. "Forces have been set into action in Europe which may end European civilization. Our commonwealth has it in its power to be the main bulwark of European peace. Something must be done. The League of Nations is powerless.

"Great Britain has a great opportunity in the present crisis to speak the great words which, with the ex-

ORGANIZATION BILL DECLARED WRONG

Columbus, April 14.—"I pledge myself to help put the appointment of the director of health in the hands of the Public Health Council, where it rightfully belongs," declared Dr. John E. Monger, present state director of health, addressing the annual meeting of the Ohio Public Health Association.

Dr. Monger condemned as "fundamentally wrong" the present system of appointment by the governor, created by the Davis organization bill passed two years ago. "This subject will not be a toy of political expediency as in the past, but will be squarely to the public, asserted Monger.

"I do not care a snap whether I am director tomorrow, next week or next year, but while I am director I expect to retain my freedom and not let the position subsidize my independence," Monger declared.

CHILD DEAD AT BIRTH SAVED BY NEW METHOD

New York, April 14.—An infant supposedly born dead was "brought to life" by the injection into its heart of several drops of adrenalin last Monday, officials of the Brownsville and East New York Hospital of Brooklyn announced.

The child, son of Mrs. Rose Servin, was, according to hospital authorities, apparently dead at birth. A careful examination, however, indicated a very faint heart action and doctors immediately attempted to establish respiration.

Two hours work had been unsuccessful when the physicians decided to resort to adrenalin.

The effect was instantaneous, it was stated, and a few minutes later a lusty infant was presented to Mrs. Servin, who previously had been told her child was dead.

IMPOSTER SOAKED— WILL BE DEPORTED

London, April 14.—Zendenshino Mohammed Said Kakelo, who, as the self-styled "Prince of Kurdistan," cut a dash in the fashionable circles of New York, Paris and London, and toolled the socially elect into believing that he was a descendant of royalty, has been sentenced to six months in jail as an imposter. After the sentence is served he will be deported. The "prince" danced with the prettiest society girls in three cities and was wine and dined by their brothers and elders, who thought he was a real prince from a throne. He boasted of his acquaintance and intimacy with royalty and nobility, and with the Vanderbilts, Rockefellers, Whitneys and other wealthy American families. The "prince" is 37 years old and lived in luxury for many years. He was a clerk in a second-hand clothing shop in Cheapside before he polished up his fake crown and waded into the highest society.

DE VALERA ELUDES PURSUING TROOPS IN THE MOUNTAINS

Section Swept Clean of Irregulars It Is Believed

Dublin, April 14.—Despite vigorous search by Free State troops, during which airplanes were employed, Eamon De Valera has apparently escaped from the Tipperary mountains in which he was hiding, according to unofficial information received at Free State military headquarters today.

The whole mountain districts was swept from end to end by six columns of Free State troops acting under General Prout. Many secret hiding places were found and numerous Republican irregular prisoners were captured but De Valera was not among them.

General Prout sent word he did not believe there is a single irregular hiding anywhere in the mountains.

"They are swept clean," said the Free State commandant.

Heavy rains are falling over the Tipperary mountains making further search difficult.

LONDON POLICE CONDUCT RAIDS

London, April 14.—More than 150 policemen conducted a series of extensive raids in various parts of London early today searching the homes of suspected members of the "London Battalion" of the Irish Republican army.

A number of persons were detained for further investigation but it is understood none of them will be deported, as was done six weeks ago when more than 100 Irishmen and women were arrested in raids in England and Scotland.

BOY CONVICTED OF MURDER OF MAN

Montrose, Pa., April 14.—Elmer Washburn, 14-year-old schoolboy, gazed about him unmoved when the jury returned a verdict of second degree murder against him. He was charged with the murder of Cyrus Payne, aged Brushville (Pa.) hermit, with robbery as the motive.

The dramatic appearance of the boy's father, Thomas Sperry of Lisle, N. Y., who swore on the witness stand that Elmer was not 14 years of age, and thus had not reached what Pennsylvania holds as "the age of presumption," saved the young slayer from the chair. Were it not for the testimony of the father, who disappeared when Elmer was an infant, the jury, it was said after the discharge of the panel, would probably have reached a verdict of first degree murder.

CARTER IMPROVING.

Cairo, Egypt, April 14.—Howard Carter, the American Egyptologist, who was taken ill following the death of Lord Carnarvon, when he caught a cold while busy arranging the formalities for the dispatch of Lord Carnarvon's body to England, is better. Carter said that the preservative work on the tomb of Seti the Second, and on the objects removed from the tomb of Tutankhamen, is proceeding satisfactorily.

QUICK JUSTICE METED OUT TO MURDER GANG

Members of West Virginia Black Hand
Convicted.

Clarksburg, West Va., April 14.—A new brand of "lightning justice" was written across American legal records by the "mountain court" here today as a result of the third conviction in five days, in West Virginia's sensational black hand murder trials.

With a number of deputy sheriffs and police on guard the three convicted murderers are held in the county jail awaiting sentences of death for their share in the "black hand" campaign of violence, terror and sudden death that left a bloody trail across West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Seven other alleged members of the terror band are adjoining cells facing a turn at "mountain justice." The trio tried and convicted on first degree murder charges—all within five days—are "Nick" Salamanto, Philip "Big Nose" Connizzaro and Richard "Dapper Dick" Ferria, Italians.

Ferria, the last man convicted was the accredited leader of the band, but the state charged all three rose through infamous "blood degrees" to be "super murderers" in the ranks of the Camorra by their toll of human lives.

It was said "Dapper Dick," so called for his faultless dress, had slain 17 men to win the "highest honors" given by the Camorra in this country.

Three different juries brought in verdicts of guilty against the trio for the slaying of Frank Naples, a Clarksburg business man, one of seven victims of the band in the county. A series of revolting revelations were made during the trials.

The black hand had shot men, dynamited homes and stolen girls to sell into hideous slavery, with an apparent indifference to all laws, but justice finally overtook them with a swiftness that has set the whole county here to boasting.

Salamanto was tried first, the testimony starting last Monday. He was convicted Tuesday by a jury which considered his fate in secret only seven minutes.

The next afternoon Connizzaro was found guilty by another jury which deliberated 14 minutes. On Thursday, Ferria's trial started and last night he was convicted by a jury which was out only 21 minutes.

Five of the seven men still facing trial are charged with being accessories before murder, in having helped to plot Naples' death. The first of these—Patsy Corbi—goes to trial Monday. The two remaining prisoners are charged with first degree murder for the slaying of James Little, a confectioner, in his store a year ago.

The trio of convictions were obtained chiefly on testimony given by Rocco Florio, a former "secretary" of the local black hand society. Florio told in court of the society's meetings when murders were plotted.

FESS CONDEMNS ATTACKS MADE ON U. S. SUPREME COURT

Senator S. D. Fess of Yellow Springs advocated the principle of a two-thirds majority vote in the U. S. Supreme Court's decision affecting the constitutionality of laws by Congress while voicing emphatic condemnation of radical attacks upon the court in an address before the Men's Club of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Dayton, Friday night.

Senator Fess fayed those who would undermine the authority of the court, strip it of its power and flout its dignity. He attributed the increasing frequency of adverse decisions by the Court to what he intimated was the failure of the recent Congresses to look into the possible unconstitutionality of bills before they were enacted into laws.

The speaker opened his address with a brief review of the different forms of governments, asserting that each has three fundamental functions, executive, legislative and judicial. He then launched into a decision of the powers of the United States Court and effort to abridge its authority, because of recent rulings setting aside several important measures enacted by Congress at the behest of almost universal public opinion.

"The United States Supreme Court represents the highest type of men it is possible to obtain in this country," the Senator said. "It is beyond the influence of unthinking clamor, but the best of men in Congress permit strong movements back home to influence them sometimes against their will."

"The agitation aroused by the late decision of the court, holding that the minimum wage for women is not constitutional, shows that we are in a cycle of thinking in the United States. This mass thinking by the general public must be directed, unless we are to run the risk of doing harm to the very fundamentals of our form of government. It is the height of unwisdom to launch thoughtless attacks on the court for it is the strongest element of stability in our government. Nevertheless, attacks upon this great judicial body have become a common practice, culminating in the movement to abridge its powers."

Senator Fess then discussed the various plans which senators and representatives have publicly said they intend to present before the next session of Congress. He paid particular attention to the proposals of Senator LaFollette, of Wisconsin, and Senator Borah, of Idaho.

"These suggestions that the powers of the court be curbed are not new," he said, "in the early days of the Republic there were many opponents of the plan to make it absolutely supreme. Today the main propositions to hold the court in check are presented by Senator LaFollette and Senator Borah. The senator from Wisconsin wants the decisions of the court reviewed by Congress, giving the latter power to reverse the court's decisions by a two-thirds vote. This proposal, if carried out, would absolutely destroy the independence of the court but there is no danger of its success."

"Senator Borah favors a unanimous vote of the court on constitutional matters, and I have some sympathy with his position. However if we are to change the present procedure, I believe the best method would be to adopt the plan of a two-thirds vote by the court on the constitutionality of laws. But I am of the opinion that Congress has no legal authority to pass a law to that effect."

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

H. H. H. TEAM BEATS CEDARVILLE ALL-STARS
ATHLETES OF PENNSYLVANIA R. R. GATHER IN COLUMBUS

LANDIS OPTIMISTIC

Chicago, Ill., April 14.—Optimistic, that's him all over, Mabel. Judge Landis, baseball's high commissioner, says baseball is going to have a grand year. Witness the following statement issued from his office here today:

"For 1923 there is every indication of a most excellent season. Apparently in the third league there will be a broadening of the field of clubs that are up in the race. Very generally the results of spring training are highly satisfactory and I look for a great year for the fans."

PENNSYLVANIA MEET IS ON.

Athletes of the Pennsylvania Railroad System from all over the country are in Columbus Saturday taking part in the third annual indoor athletic meet, conceded the largest of its kind in the country.

The meet is held in the coliseum of the state fair grounds and championships will be established in 67 events. Floor, ring and mat events are sectional, and teams from the eastern divisions will compete with western teams.

For track and field contests, bowling, trap shooting, rifle shooting, quoits, horseshoes and shuffleboard, the contestants are divided into six groups, representing the six major operating units of the Pennsylvania System.

Both men and women athletes from all over the System are taking part in the meet.

Grid Practice Next Week

Spring football practice at Central High will not be started until next week, it is announced by Coach Earl Burner.

A meeting of candidates was held Thursday evening and a likely looking lot of embryo pastimers turned out to hear a talk by the grid mentor.

With two handholds on the Miami University southwestern Ohio championship cup, ambitions have sprung up at Central High to make the trophy a permanent possession by winning it again next year. Another crack eleven next fall would bring the cup and unusual amount of football prominence to the Xenia School, and it is hoped that when spring grid practice is indulged in next week, that some latent talent will develop to strengthen the team next fall.

XENIA TEAM VICTORIOUS.

The H. H. H. basketball team defeated the Cedarville All-Stars 28 to 10 Friday evening.

The fast pass work of the locals outclassed the Cedarville aggregation. Parks, W. Luttrell, Smith and Anderson starring for the Xenia quintet while Harris and Mills starred for the All-Stars.

The first half was very fast with Parks making five straight field goals and Mills and Harris dropping in two apiece, the first half ending 10 to 8 in favor of the Xenia five. The Xenia athletes were pacemakers in the second period and the visitors could add but two points to their total. The lineup and summary:

H. H. H. (28) All-Stars (10)
R. Luttrell L. F. .... Whitney
H. Smith R. F. .... Shoupe
Parks C. .... Dillard
Anderson L. G. .... Harris
Sickles R. G. .... Mills
Substitutions: W. Luttrell for R. Luttrell, Field Goals: Parks 5, W. Luttrell 4, H. Smith 3, Anderson 2, Harris 3, Mills 2. Referee: Jack.

BAYLIFTS TO PLAY

By Wones

The Xenia Baylifts will play the Bowersville nine Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Washington Park in the first game that has been played here this season. The Baylift-Bowersville game was booked last week but on account of the frosty weather the game was cancelled until Sunday April 15. This game is booked for a practice game only and was scheduled by Roy Baylift in order that he can give all those who wish a try out with his semi-pro gang a good chance to show just what kind of base ball they have in them.

Baseball fans who think that the game will be a makeshift affair will be fooled as both teams have some veterans and youngsters in the line-ups. Rube Hall, Willie McDonald and Cooper will do the twirling for the local nine. Frantz and Ernie Randal will do the receiving. Both of these lads are fine at their positions.

Tucker will be at the initial sack. Weider will be found at second. Furnas at third, Stony Fuller will don a Baylift uniform again and will be found at center field. Just who will hold down the other positions is a question now and will not be settled until Sunday but with F. Leahey, Les Stiles, Woolary, Schwab, Early of Jamestown and Don Fuller stuck in the lineup the locals will no doubt make things very interesting for the Bowersville gang.

As for the Bowersville bunch they are getting better every day. Wical who has had big league experience will take care of the twirling while Gallimore will be at the hot corner and Woolery at one of the outfield positions.

MILITANT SPIRIT AGAIN STALKING THROUGH EUROPE—RUHR BALKING PEACE

Editor's Note: Following is the fourth of a series of articles on European conditions written after a first hand study of affairs, both in the British Isles and continental Europe.

By DAVID M. CHURCH

London, April 14.—Europe's efforts to forget war have been seriously hampered by the Ruhr affair.

The militant spirit which showed signs of drooping and dying in the post armistice days, is once again stalking through Europe.

Communications, war bulletins and war news from the Ruhr have stirred the breasts of Europe's men. There is something about the war that is feverishly contagious. No sooner had the first reports of clashes in the Ruhr begun to trickle out than on all sides one heard discussions of war and its possibilities. The great majority professed that they did not want war, and they probably meant it, but nevertheless there was a note of insincerity in the voices of those who protested, that if war came, they would refuse to join the colors. The great mass of people of Europe do not want war, but if war comes they will flock to the colors just as they did in 1914. Europe has been brought up on wars and sons are bred with an instinct for defending the colors. This instinct has been enlivened by the Ruhr situation which has many elements of war which may result in anything.

In Germany according to reliable reports, retired Prussian officers, who, a year ago, were despised and without respect, are once again treated with the greatest deference when they appear in public and old soldiers click their heels and snap into attention as they pass by.

ENTERTAINS HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Members of the Junior and senior classes of the Bath Township High School, at Fairfield, were entertained at the annual class reception by Miss Helen Stewart at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Stewart, on the Dayton and Yellow Springs pike, Thursday evening.

Thirty-three members of the two classes were entertained at the affair. The guests including County Supt. of Schools and Mrs. H. C. Aultman, Professor and Mrs. D. S. Lynn, superintendent of the Bath Township Schools and the Rev. and Mrs. Elder B. Leis, pastor of the Fairfield Reformed Church and the teachers of the Bath township High School.

A prettily appointed two-course banquet was served at seven o'clock, purple and gold, the senior class colors being used in the appointments and in the decorations of the Stewart home. The committee in charge of the affair was composed of a group of senior girls, Miss Emma Herr, Miss Martha Rue and Miss Helen Stewart.

The Rev. Mr. Lewis presided as toastmaster, the program of the evening consisting of talks by Prof. E. J. Lundy, principal of Bath Township High School and Miss Rachel Ankeny and Miss Alice Baines, teachers of the school.

RECEIVE ANNOUNCEMENT OF MARRIAGE IN WEST.

Mr. and Mrs. James Curlett, Sr., of West Third Street, received a telegram Saturday announcing the marriage of their son, Mr. Lawrence Vincent Curlett, of Ontario, Calif., and Miss Amber Purvis, also of Ontario, which took place in that city Thursday, April 12, at high noon.

The newly married couple will make their home at 2908 A. E. Street in Ontario after May first.

News of the marriage will be of interest to a large circle of friends of the groom in this city. Mr. Curlett has made his home for more than two years in Ontario, near Los Angeles where he has been successfully engaged in the automobile business. During the war he served with the A. E. F. overseas and was stationed in Germany.

Mr. Curlett and his bride are planning to visit in this city this summer and will make the trip by motor.

JOINT RECEPTION IS DISCONTINUED BY SCHOOL HEADS

Owing to the failure to secure suitable accommodations, and the expense of taking care of the large number of pupils, it has been generally decided by school officials of the county, to discontinue the county-wide junior and senior reception, according to County Superintendent of Schools, H. C. Aultman. The county-wide reception was inaugurated and held the last two years in Xenia. Mr. Aultman hopes that the combined school reception may be continued next year.

The receptions of the two higher classes of the Greene County schools, will be held in the various parts of the county, within the next few weeks. The first of the affairs was held by the Bath Township High School at Fairfield, Thursday evening.

The county-wide reception includes the entertainment of between 300 and 350 people annually, Mr. Aultman said.

LOSING TEAM SPONSORS SENIOR HOP FRIDAY

Mrs. Rempke has had wide experience having had charge of the emergency hospital of the American Rolling Mills, the Poeque store hospital in Cincinnati, and also has served in Bethesda and other hospitals in Cincinnati. She is a sister of Mrs. Geo. Fuller of South Detroit trees.

DR. PROUDFIT RETURNS

Dr. Charles P. Proudfit returned home Friday from New York City, where he spent several days in attendance at a conference of moderators and other officials of leading Protestant denominations. The conference was called by Dr. Robert E. Speer president of the Federal Council of Churches of America. Eighteen delegates were in attendance at the conference which was held in the Yale Club in New York.

GIRLS AS MISSIONARIES.

Christianity is being made the best missionaries, Dr. Paul Rader, noted evangelist, said. They have claims to still the savage breast. A call for 500 girl missionaries will be issued this summer by the Christian and Missionary alliance, which Dr. Rader heads. "Millions of yellow men, black men and brown men over the world have never met missionaries," he said. "The heart of Africa, Tibet and Brazil hold myriads of savages as yet unapproached."

JUDGE SATER ENTERS 43RD YEAR IN OFFICE

Columbus, April 14.—Federal Judge John E. Sater celebrated the forty-second anniversary of his entrance into public life in Columbus, yesterday, by departing for Covington, Ky., where he will sit in a three judge case tomorrow. On April 13, 1881, Judge Sater took up the work of a deputy in the office of the state seal commissioner. He has been in public office most of the time since.

MAY PASS BILL OVER VETO IN ATTEMPT TO ACCEPT BRYAN FARM

The possibility that the bill providing the state acceptance of the 500-acre John Bryan farm near Yellow Springs, bequeathed by Bryan to the State as a game preserve and forestry may be passed over the veto of Governor A. V. Donahey, was expressed Saturday by Representative M. A. Broadstone of this city.

The Governor vetoed the bill Friday on the grounds that acceptance of the bill would be unconstitutional, contrary to public policy and that it conflicts with the ordinance of 1877. Local people interested in the State acceptance of the tract, however, believe that the chief executive, in vetoing the bill, was merely dodging the religious issue which hinges on the clause in the Bryan will providing that no religious service should ever be held on the tract.

This is the third effort received by people making an effort to have the State accept the tract. Former State Secretary of Agriculture Shaw, acting under direction of former Governor Cox and Shaw's successor, L. J. Tabor, acting under instructions from former Governor Davis, both turned down the gift. The will provides that in the event the bequest is not accepted by the state that it shall revert to Greene County.

"Governor Donahey never expressed himself to me about the bill to accept the bequest, but I understood that he had told several people that he would favor it," said Representative Broadstone, Saturday. To pass the bill over the Governor's veto requires a two-third vote favoring it in both branches of the Legislature. This bill was given a much larger majority than this upon its first introduction in both branches.

It is now possible to take possible to take introduction in both branches. It is now possible to take it up again when the Assembly reconvenes the latter part of this month and by passing it by the same vote, accept the tract over the Governor's veto. I believe that could easily be done. Personally, however, it is immaterial to me whether it is passed or not, for if the state refuses to accept it, that gives Greene County a chance to acquire the property. I don't know that it will be taken up again but I believe it could be passed."

L. F. Clevenger, former president of the Greene County Fish and Game Protective Association, who has been active in all efforts to have the bequest accepted, was very much surprised at the action of the Governor in vetoing the bill. Mr. Clevenger, with Postmaster H. E. Rice, conferred with Governor Donahey on behalf of acceptance of the tract. At that time the executive said his mind was made up, but that he merely wished to confer with Attorney General Grabbe before passing on the bill. The Xenia men were led to believe that he would not veto the proposed acceptance.

It is the belief of Mr. Clevenger that Cincinnati interests in connection with the Bryan estate, may be using influence to delay acceptance of the tract. "I wish there were some way to make the bequest to me instead of the State I'd accept it in a minute," said Mr. Clevenger. That the fight to have the tract finally come to its intended use, as prescribed in the will, will continue, was the statement of Mr. Clevenger, Saturday.

Various operations between the crude rubber and finished shell for a telephone receiver compose a display of The Ohio Bell Telephone Company in the window of the Greene County Hardware Company, East Main Street.

Samples of crude rubber, the rubber after it is prepared for working out, after the receiver molds are cut out, and the roughly molded rubber receiver before it is finished, are on display with an explanation of the operation of manufacture. The instruments, made by the Western Electric Company, which also manufactures other parts of the telephone and telephone appliances, are rolled, cut and baked "like biscuits."

First Labor Bank in New York opens

New York, April 14.—Thousands of union men and women filled Union Square today and celebrated the opening of the first labor bank in New York—the Amalgamated Bank. Bands blared and crowds milled around the square several hours.

The institution, organized by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, opened with insured success, 900 depositors having placed $250,000 in its safe before it started business. It has a capital and surplus of $350,000.

While the bank is open to the general public, it is primarily for the interest of union members, whose enterprises it will assist.

UNION COMMUNITY CLUB GIVES ITS PROGRAM FRIDAY

A large attendance and an interesting program featured the regular meeting of the Union Community Club, held at the schoolhouse, Friday evening.

The program of the evening opened with "America" by the assembly, followed by a recitation by Charabel Watkins. Music by the Rev. and Mrs. Walley was enjoyed. A clever playlet, "The Packing of the Home Missionary Barrel" was the principal number on the program, the characters being taken by Mrs. Tom Ledbetter, Mrs. Karl Babb, Mrs. Harry Seifert, Mrs. Orville Watkins, Mrs. Willis DeVoe, Mrs. R. C. Ledbetter, Mrs. Roger Fudge, Miss Louise Ledbetter, Miss Anna Ellison and Roy Seifert.

A solo was given by Mrs. Royman Wolf, as the next number. "Does Farming Pay?" was the subject of an interesting discussion, led by Harry Seifert, Emory Beal, Herman Davis and Horace Anderson, Lucille Anderson and Edith McDonald sang a duet. A violin solo by Mrs. Walley, accompanied by Mrs. Orville Watkins, closed the program.

A business meeting was held following the refreshment committee serving delicious home-made candy later.

Members of the club hope to have the Union Grange Orchestra present at the next meeting.

The club meetings are held the second Friday in each month and are always marked with an informal social time. About one hundred members attended the Friday evening program.

TREASURY HEADS ARE UNEASY OVER DEBT SETTLEMENT

Washington, April 14.—Evidences of uneasiness are apparent at the treasury department over the delay by the British in executing the contract for the $4,600,000,000 debt settlement.

It has been almost four weeks since the American debt funding commission delivered to Ambassador Geddes the contract form it had prepared, putting into legal phraseology the terms of settlement agreed to by the British mission that came to Washington in January and ratified by the American congress. Since that time there has been no word whatever.

With the developments of the present week in London, foreshadowing the possible fall of the Bonar Law cabinet, the treasury's confidence of a week ago has given way to outward evidences of uneasiness. The most optimistic expression to which treasury officials now will give voice is that they are "hopeful" that the settlement will not be greatly delayed.

Secretary Mellon, chairman of the American commission, has called a meeting of that body for next Monday to consider the situation. Last Monday he felt certain the contract would be in hand the following day and he could call the commission one day this week to formally receive it. Now he doesn't know what to do about it. Senator Smoot and other members of the commission are in the same quandary.

Meanwhile Ambassador Geddes and his private secretary, H. V. Tennant, have absented themselves from Washington and are at a fashionable resort in Virginia.

Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, who headed the debt mission to Washington, is one of the centers of the political storm now raging in England. It is not unreasonable to expect the opposition to look with disfavor on his financial policies, particularly one involving such a large sum, extending over such a long period of time and so directly affecting the British pocketbook.

Monday's conference of the American commission, in addition to a discussion of the British delay, also will be given to speeding up action on the part of other debtor nations. The American commission is expected to draft a polite but pointed note to all the debtor nations, suggesting that the time has come to do something.

AUTO SPEED TRAP HELD LEGAL

Zanesville, O., April 14.—Speed traps set for motorists in Ohio are legal, according to the decision of Judge C. C. Lambert of common pleas court. However, the case in which the court ruled likely will be carried to the supreme court. A man was arrested at Norwich and fined in the mayor's court for exceeding the speed limit. He had been caught in the noted Norwich speed "trap."

TICKETS SELLING FOR CLASS PLAY

Although tickets for "Come Out of the Kitchen" the three act comedy to be presented by a cast composed of members of the senior class of Central High School as the annual called meeting of the Central High Theater next Thursday and Friday are rapidly being taken, there are still many choice seats left, according to school officials.

The cast is already going through rehearsals at City Hall Theater and der the direction of Miss Jean B. Elwell, who is training the performers. Eleven people take parts in the play, which is considered one of the most delightful of modern comedies. The seats are on sale at Sol's Drug Store where many may still be obtained for both nights.

LOCKOUT AVERTED.

London, April 14.—A truck in the building war was effected at the eleventh hour when the employers rescinded their lockout notice, which would have shut down work for half a million men. The employers agreed to submit the question of wages and hours to an arbitration board.

The following directions for knitting an "ear of corn" teapot holder have been sent to me by a reader to publish here for the benefit of another reader who recently asked for them.

"Corn Teapot Holder: Use two threads of Germantown yarn—one corn color and one white. Cast on 6 stitches. Knit 6 sts. with one color, 6 with the other color, always alternating color and being careful to keep the straight thread on underside.

"Knit 30 ridges on right side, then on right side narrow in every other row of corn. Knit 5 ridges on right side, then narrow in other 5 rows of corn, after which narrow 1 st. in every row of corn on right side, binding off when you have 10 sts.

"Fringe a bit of white silk or ribbon, scorch it a trifle and insert it in the tip. For the cob end, crochet a circle of single crochet to fit end of corn; attach a bow of green ribbon."

—Mrs. E. B.

"Knitted Ear Corn: One ball of lemon-color Germantown worsted and one ball of orange Germantown. Using the lemon color, cast on 30 sts. Knit 1 st. and purl 1 st for 8 rows. Ninth Row: Increase until there are 50 sts. Tenth Row: Knit 5 sts. and after fastening orange worsted, knit 5 sts. of that color. Carry the lemon worsted on the underside of the knitting and knit 5 of the lemon color. Continue this throughout the row.

"Eleventh Row: Knit 5 sts. of the lemon worsted and carry orange on the inside of the work and in front of the needle, so that it is ready to continue knitting. Carry the lemon in front of the needle so that it is on the inside. Knit 5 orange. Continue these two rows for about 25 ribs, or 50 rows. Sixty-second Row: Narrow off 1 st. at beginning of each kernel. Sixty-third Row: Knit plain. Sixty-fourth Row: Narrow off 1 st. at end of each kernel. Continue until all the stitches are decreased. Sew up the side for an inch from each end, leaving hole for the teapot handle. Put a gathering of brown sewing silk on the pointed end and leave ends two inches long. Put a rosette of narrow light-green ribbon on other end.—Mrs. M. S.

"DONKEY" JIBE BRINGS REBUKE FOR LADY ASTOR.

Lady Astor does not think boys and girls under eighteen years should drink anything stronger than water or tea, and wants a law on the British statute books saying so.

But she is so deadly in earnest over the proposition that when opponents began taming down her proposed prohibition measure in the Commons Committee the Viscountess forgot herself and called another member of the committee a "village donkey."

J. H. Thomas, and former locomotive engineer, recently a guest at the Astor home, considered the remark in doubtful taste and as chairman asked the Viscountess to withdraw her remark. She did. Committee meetings which Lady Astor is to participate are unfailing well attended, as they usually are enlivened with bits of by-play or picturesque phrases not exactly characteristic of the usual party grind.

Walter Creaveslor, conservative, moved an amendment exempting beer and cider from the operations of the bill. Lady Astor opposed this vigorously, saying the amendment was intended to wreck the bill.

All the amendments, she went on, seemed to be wrecking amendments, except those in the name of J. R. Remer, conservative, who, she asserted, "seemed to be the village donkey."

Sir George Hamilton, conservative, protested against the continual reference to those opposing the bill as being interested in the trade. He said Lady Astor's own organization was so rich and powerful that it had influenced the sending of hundreds of letters to the members of the house virtually threatening that, if they did not vote for her bill, the writers would not again vote for them.

In spite of the strength of the opposition, Lady Astor won the tilt, the amendment being rejected by a vote of 27 to 19.

EVERY STEAMSHIP CARRIES ITS LOAD OF BANKNOTES SHIPPED BY EXPRESS COMPANIES AND OTHERS.

Shortly before the sailing of one of the large ocean liners a few days ago a motor truck well guarded by detectives, rolled out on the pier and took its station at the foot of a lowered gang-plank.

In rapid succession wooden boxes or cases bound with iron straps and having leaden seals were handed down from the vehicle and rushed aboard the steamship. The boxes averaged one foot long, one foot high and one foot deep, although some of the mysterious containers were of smaller size.

Once on the deck the boxes were relayed quickly into the purser's storeroom, which was afterward locked and carefully bolted. A man who had been in charge of the strange cargo took a receipt from the purser and left the ship.

"What was in those boxes?" we later asked him.

"American money," he replied, as if there was nothing remarkable in the circumstance.

"Not coins?"

"No, we ship coins on those rare occasions when there is hard money moving eastward, in specially made coin kegs or double-canvas bags," he answered. "What you have just witnessed is the debarkation of American paper money insured for its full value. The cases I have loaded aboard contained bills—most of them in $1, $2, $5 and $10 denominations, and some packages of $20 bills. They are shooting it across these days on nearly every ship that sails for Northern European ports."

How many of us will recall in the pre-war days the scorn of European shopkeepers, cab drivers and cafe owners when proffered American banknotes, only those acceptable at all being the gold certificates, and even those were taken with wry faces!

Today the most sought-after things of money value in Europe are American bills and returning travelers tell pathetic tales of Confederate money and counterfeit script now being wildly grabbed in the cities and towns of Germany, Austria, Poland and Hungary and the various Baltic provinces which have been transformed into the small republics of Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia and Finland, not forgetting the Free City of Danzig.

"We have been extensively exporting American banknotes to North Europe for some months now, and the demand for them is rapidly increasing," said Donald Frothingham, general manager of the new business department of the American Express Company.

"Remember that the German mark, which before the war ran 4 1-5 to the dollar, has depreciated to 21,000 to the dollar. The Austrian crown, that once was valued at nearly five to the dollar, now sells in paper money at 78,000 to the dollar while the last known quotation of Russian paper rubles was millions to the dollar.

"It is logical that the people in those countries which have lost credit with themselves should seek possession of a foreign currency of known high standing. In Berlin a premium of 55 per cent is being paid for American banknotes over what is given for a New York draft."

HARVARD RACE ISSUE.

The Board of Overseers at Harvard has decided to maintain in its rules for admission the "traditional policy of freedom from discrimination on grounds of race or religion." That is the only principle applicable in a non-sectarian American institution of learning—the principle of an equal privilege for all in the democracy of scholarship. Every boy who genuinely wants a college education should have his opportunity to secure it; and the first touchstone of fitness, beyond any scholastic ordeal, should be the intensity and sincerity of that desire.

If members of any one race show an extraordinary zeal for a liberal education, if by persistence and application they outstrip others who are leisurely and self-indulgent and half-hearted, they deserve to be rewarded, not penalized, for their initiative. The prizes in every worldly competition go to those who "strive and agonize" for them, and the collegiate premiums are not on sloth or luxurious dalliance but on zeal and diligence. These excellent qualities are not the monopoly of any race.

The processes of social exclusion and invidious personal distinction are foreign to the idea of American scholarship and to any generous and broad academic idealism. To put up the bars against earnest aspirants for truth because they are not of a certain group is to resist the fundamental fact that schools and colleges are founded for those who need them most, and use them best.

DO YOU EVER NOTICE TO WHOM HE TURNS WHEN HE GETS "UP AGAINST IT?"

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

A meeting of the Xenia Presbytery was held at Cedarville yesterday, the most important business coming up being the question of the consolidation of the Second and Third United Presbyterian Churches of this city. The petition for the consolidation was taken up and passed without a dissenting vote.

Manager McClellan has another good theatrical attraction in store for Xenia this season. He received a telegram yesterday from a company playing the "Prisoner of Zenda" asking for a date in Xenia in May.

One of the most brilliant events of the season in a social way was the Charity Ball given at the Casino Rink last night under the auspices of the Lodge of Elks. Under the able supervision of Mr. George Swartz the rink was a mass of patriotic colors. There were 118 couples in the grand march, led by Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Zell.

The Cincinnati Avenue school building was sold today by the school board to William Byers for $2,275. He will use it as a store house in his business of junk dealer.

BEAUTY CHATS

A COMPLEXION CHAT

From Paris comes a story of an odd sort of beauty treatment, French women with oily skins wipe their faces over every night with benzine. This highly volatile liquid is drying, therefore takes the surplus grease from the face—as it does from one's dress!—and is very cleaning.

All of which would be sensible enough, were it not that gasoline or benzine explodes so easily. I never advise its use at all, except for cleaning clothes out of doors and well away from the house! I certainly shouldn't advise it for complexion purposes indoors, we're all apt to be careless, and carelessness and benzine are a bad combination.

That reminds me, by the way, that some of the smartest beauty shops give a "dry" shampoo with benzine. It takes the grease and dirt from scalp and hair, leaving it beautifully clean and glossy, and does away with the risk of a cold in the head. But there you are in the hands of an expert, in a special room where no open flame can come.

Here's an excellent treatment for a dry, fine skin. Wipe it over at night with a thin oatmeal gruel—save the soft liquid from your breakfast porridge. Rub this into the skin and wipe off gently, and never mind the slight stickiness, this will dry off. This feeds the skin and makes it delightfully fine grained.

By the way, a walk in the rain, with the rain beating against the face, is marvelous for any complexion. That's why the English have such skins—damp climate, thick fogs and frequent rain. A cold, beating rain will stimulate and sting the skin to activity, a warm rain is refreshing if not so stimulating.

Marilyn.—A girl of 14, height four feet ten inches would be normal weight at 110 pounds, but this should not be considered too seriously, as growing children vary so in their development. We all know how they sometimes appear not to grow at all for a year or more, and then in another half year make up for the apparent lack. The general health should be the guide in such cases.

Charlotte Y.—Thank you very much for your helpful suggestion about treating frosted feet. I shall be glad to pass it along to the readers as soon as there is space for it.

Anxious Thelma.—If the bones in your ankle have healed there should be no reason why you should not dance again; in fact, you need exercise now to strengthen the bones and all the muscles surrounding them. Since you are avoiding exercise, this lack of it may be causing your extra weight. Massage the ankles every day to strengthen and build up the muscles again. And take as much exercise as you need to keep down this excess weight.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Gallion, O., April 14.—Mrs. Emily Lee, 73, wealthy and eccentric, fell against a stove, following a heart attack at her home, and was burned to death. She lived alone and the body was not discovered until 12 hours later.

RELIEVES BACKACHE

"Have had kidney trouble and back ache for many years and I tried several doctors but got only temporary relief. A friend advised me to try Foley Kidney Pills, and before I used two boxes I was entirely well," writes A. C. Perkins, Summer Shade, Ky. Kidney and bladder trouble requires prompt treatment. Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon Foley's. Sayre & Hemphill, No. 8 South Detroit St. adv

OUR UNBODIED FRIEND

There are times when the very substance of the world melts from our consciousness. We know that we are surrounded by moving and active forces, but somehow they seem none of us.

Even those most dear to us appear helpless.

To whom do the birds sing? Why do flowers reach the heart after words have fallen dead and cold at our feet? What makes us thrill at the first stretch of the leaves in springtime? Who gave to the ocean its silvered eloquence?

From where does that one of all ones come—our unbodied friend?

Is not this silent comer an embodiment of all that is sweet and silent and sympathetic—no matter from what source its inspiration is drawn?

Ah, what would we do without this unbodied friend of ours—this spiritual caller, this unheeded stranger who is always so ready to come to us in utmost frankness and simplicity of manner? Unseen, unheard—but real, so very real.

Go where we will, be what we may, in loneliness and disappointment, into our thoughts and feelings comes this unbodied friend who understands.

Over the tombstone of Shelley are two Latin words signifying "Hearts of Hearts." What an epitaph! And who would say that Shelley, in death, is not worthy of such an expression? A bodily life so storm stressed, and finally snuffed out by the very waves he so much loved—then remembered in silence by this "Heart of Hearts."

I think of this unbodied friend of mine and this Shelley epitaph comes to me, and I give it to this unbodied friend of mine!

Perhaps you who read this little Talk will see bigness in it the minute that you come to feel that you, too, may have an unbodied friend.

Baker's Cocoa

is the ideal drink for growing children

Not only does its delicious flavor and aroma appeal to the palate but it supplies the body with a considerable amount of pure, wholesome and nutritious food.

Children, owing to their almost ceaseless activity, frequently require as large an amount of nourishment as adults, and good cocoa is a valuable aid in the carefully arranged diet. But its quality must be good and no cocoa can quite so well meet the requirements of dietitian, physician, nurse or housekeeper as "BAKER'S"

LOCAL MEMBERS OF W. C. T. U. ENDORSE FINEFROCK MEASURE

Two interesting talks marked the meeting of twenty-three members of the A. C. Turrell W. C. T. U., at the home of Mrs. William Bull, on Maple Street, Friday afternoon.

The program was opened by devotionary exercises by Mrs. John McAlmont, followed by a talk by Miss Louise B. Shaffer, secretary of the Greene County Chapter of the American Red Cross, who spoke of the work of that organization in the county. Miss Shaffer cited the growth of the Red Cross in Greene County, the examination of school children by the Red Cross nurses, and what it meant to childhood. She said stress on the co-operation of the teachers with the nurses, and explaining the follow-up work in the homes, where the conditions of the children are discussed, resulting in the parents conferring with their family physician. She praised the work of the local Rotary Club, in the Crippled Children movement.

A reading by Mrs. Roy Ireland entitled, "The Young Bride's Going to Market," interspersed the reading of a paper, by Wilbur F. Crafts, president of the International Reform Bureau, on "The Adventures of a Cheerful Reformer." Mr. Crafts has secured the passage of 18 laws, winning obedience to law in more than 400 cases without arrest, "no more than than the arrest of thought."

A resolution was passed by the members of the A. C. Turrell W. C. T. U., asking Governor Donahoe to sign the Finefrock bill, which provides that persons committed for a failure to pay their fines, shall be credited with $1.50 a day if they work and sixty cents, for each day of imprisonment if they do not work. If the bill becomes a law, it will provide honest labor for moonshiners and bootleggers, say sponsors of the bill.

One hundred and forty-nine members of the W. C. T. U. in the county, endorsed the resolution urging passage of the bill.

BEAUTIFUL SCENERY OF WEST RELATED

The glories of the beautiful scenery through which the so-called southern route to the National Park, at Yellowstone, runs, are extolled in copies of The Pinedale Roundup, weekly publication of Pinedale, Sublette County, Wyoming, copies of which have been sent here by Mrs. V. N. Miller, (Jona Redfern), of Daniel, Wyoming, formerly of this city.

Mr. Miller is County Commissioner of Sublette County, and owner of the Figure Five Ranch, twelve miles west of Pinedale, the county seat of the new county, and right in the heart of some of the prettiest scenery of the west. A series of articles, extolling the fascinating beauties of the scenery in that section, written by E. V. Cockins, of the U. S. Forest Service, is running in the Pinedale Roundup.

Residents of that section of Wyoming, and the Pinedale Chamber of Commerce and other organizations are sponsoring the publicity and widely advertising what is known as the southern route west because of the scenery met with on the route. The Yellowstone Park Highway, by way of Pinedale, Hoback Canyon, Jackson Hole and the Tetons, connecting with the Lincoln Highway at Rock Springs and other points on its course, has just been completed and opens up this vast section of natural scenic beauty to the automobile tourist especially.

Pinedale is reached by rail on the Union Pacific Railroad to Rock Springs, and thence to Pinedale by auto service daily. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Miller is at Daniel, 12 miles west of Pinedale.

TO A WILD ROSE

Song by Edward A. MacDowell, American composer, born in New York in 1861, died in 1908. MacDowell was above all else a poet in music. After studying abroad for a number of years he lived mostly in New England and the natural charm and beauty of outdoor life appealed to him strongly and is reflected in his writing. MacDowell was for a while Professor of Music at Columbia University, N. Y. He was never strong and spent much of his time in the little town of Peterboro, N. H. and in time drew about him what has come to be known as the MacDowell Colony, comprised almost entirely of artists and musicians who find in the environment and their association there, inspiration to more and better work. "To A Wild Rose" is a favorite number with many concert players.

SHOP GIRLS ON STRIKE.

Paris, April 14.—Steel helmeted policemen are guarding the Rue de la Paix, the richest street in the world, from attacks by the striking shop girls, who are fighting for a living wage against the big dressmakers. The big shops, in spite of their huge profits last year, are refusing to give in to the demands of the girls, and practically every shop is without workers.

JUNIOR PLAY OF BEAVER HIGH IS WELL DELIVERED

"Aaron Boggs, Freshman," a three act comedy of college life was presented by the junior class of Beaver High School at the K. of P. Hall to a crowded house on Friday night.

The play is a delightful comedy full of pure, wholesome fun from beginning to end, and was appreciated by the large audience.

The characters were particularly well chosen and performed their parts with the ease and ability of experienced actors. At the conclusion of the play the entire cast assembled on the platform and sang their class song, at the close of which Stephen Steadman, president of the Junior class presented an immense cluster of beautiful pink and white carnations studded with the class colors green and white to Miss Letitia Dillencourt in appreciation of her work in directing the class for the play. The cast was as follows:

Aaron Boggs, Sr., who brings his son to college—Glenn Coy.

Aaron Boggs, Jr., a freshman—Horace Ferguson.

Ben Carter, Pepper Jervis, Cad Davis and Harry Jimmie Jamieson, college "swells" were represented by Eugene Routhahn, Arthur Hanes, Rayman Hawker and Stephen Steadman.

Second Hand Able, who buys clothes from the students—James Miller.

Two college professors—Earl Coy and Alfred Thornhill.

McGoonin, a college football hero—Jerome Stafford.

Casey Jones, a college politician, Karl Ankeney.

Mr. Chubb, born tired—Roy Merriam.

Mrs. Chubb and Mrs. Pickens, who keep the college boarding houses—Martha Routhahn and Celeste Hawker.

Miss Dollie de Cliffe, nee Chubb, a vaudeville artist—Evelyn Anders, Elizabeth Maudella Feeny, the perfect lady, who waits table at Mr. Chubb's high class boarding house—Mary Ater.

Cherry Carruthers, a homesick freshman—Claydis Paris.

Lois Hunter, a pretty junior—Deborah Walton.

Evelyn Newcomb, a haughty senior—Myrtle Cypheers.

Loretta Rea, a happy junior—Ernestine Wornstaff.

A merry group of co-eds—Alice Wolf, Lillian Gilbert, Mabel Bigler, Lucy Middleton and Alma Belt.

Three members of the cast, Karl Ankeney, Roy Merriam and Eugene Routhahn are members of the Senior Class.

The music for the entire entertainment was furnished by the Beaver creek school orchestra.

SHOWS ACTIVITY OF SOCIAL SERVICE

Illustrating the influence of the Social Service League, in keeping a family together, and the upbringing of a respectable family by furnishing the necessities of life, Mrs. Carrie L. Robertson, executive secretary of the League Friday cited the case of a widow with a large family, who was given an allowance last September by the league, for her family.

The family had been approved by the State Welfare Department, the mother being an efficient head of a family. Through the Social Service League a number of people have become interested in the family, and are assisting in the care of the children. "Without the help and influence of the league, this mother would have been compelled to place her children in the Home or go out and work in a factory," Mrs. Robertson said. It has been said that each good citizen is worth $3,000 to the State. Who is doing a greater work than a good mother," she continued.

One of the problems of the work of the Social Service League is to improve citizenship. Money to "carry on" the work will be solicited for the league when the Community Chest campaign is continued, in the near future.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Very Sore. Itched and Burned. Cuticura Heals.

"My face was literally covered with pimples. They were large and very red, and sometimes festered and became very sore. They itched and burned and were very disagreeable. I used several remedies without success. I had been bothered about three years when I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. My face began to get better in about a week, and in four weeks the pimples had disappeared. I was healed." (Signed) Miss Cora Carmin, Rt. 2, Parker, Kans.

SECRETLY MARRIED IN LONDON

Major Max Oser and Miss Mathilde McCormick

London, April 14.—Despite their romantic courtship, which aroused the faded interest of two continents, the marriage of pretty 18 year old Mathilde McCormick, granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, and Major Max Oser, middle aged Swiss riding master, was as prosaic as the nuptials of any two persons in the most humble ranks of life, it became known to-day through friends.

The exclusive announcement of the marriage, circulated by International News Service Friday, was confirmed in every detail.

Mathilde and Major Oser were married at the registry office in Lewisham, a suburb southeast of London, near Greenwich, inhabited by persons of the middle class such as shopkeepers and well to do artisans.

When the couple entered the dingy, smoke-grimed registry office, they found a crowd of persons before them. Major Oser held Mathilde gently by the arm. They spoke together in low tones and then sat down to wait their turn.

Two registrars, Frank Belcham and W. R. Owen, performed the ceremony.

For the first time, Major Oser's exact age was officially revealed. The license said he was 45. Mathilde celebrated her eighteenth birthday one week ago to-day.

Major Oser gave his full name as William Max Oser, bachelor and soldier by profession. Mathilde, who had been living most of the winter in a little flat in Kensington, said she was a "spinster of independent means."

For nearly a month before the ceremony Oser had been living in Hither Green to establish a legal residence in the district covered by the Lewisham registry office.

The couple left London as quietly as they were married. Some believe they have gone to Scotland. Others think they are on their way to Switzerland. Their real destination is known only to the happy bride and groom.

BANQUET GIVEN IN HONOR OF WINNING JAMESTOWN TEAMS

Covers for 120 persons were laid at the banquet, honoring the girls' and boys' basketball team of Jamestown High School, sponsored by the business men, and the members of the Community Service Association of that place, at Benard Hall, Friday night.

The teams honored at the affair, were county winners during the past basketball season, the boys' team winning the tri-county tournament, the girls' team winning second place in Greene County during the season. A three-course banquet was served by the members of the Community Service, for the guests, the banquet being followed by talks. The program was opened with prayer by the Rev. L. L. Gray, the first speaker of the evening being W. F. Harper, representing the Jamestown business men. R. C. Turnbull, president of the Board of Education, represented that body in a short talk, followed by the Rev. N. C. Bingham, who represented the ministers of Jamestown. Mrs. L. S. Farguarhar, was the representative of the Community Service body, her talk being followed by an address by County Superintendent of Schools, H. C. Aultman.

A talk by Miss Ruth Turnbull, coach of the Girls' team, was responded to by Miss Leontine Jenks, captain of the team. Coach Ross Stoner of the boys' team, gave a short talk, Marion Burr, team captain responding. R. G. George, of the business men's basketball team, and L. S. Farguarhar, gave the closing talks. Professor Gowdy of the Jamestown school, presided as toastmaster.

The decorations for the affair were of red and white, the school colors, the hall being festooned with crepe paper streamers of red and white. The middle table at which the members of the teams were seated, was centered with a large basket of red and white carnations, presented to the teams, by C. F. Fenker, Jamestown florist. The favors were crepe paper boxes of mints. Blooming plants formed the decorations of the other tables, the silver loving cup, the team trophy, holding a prominent place. The menu consisted of cherry sherbet, chicken noodles, mashed potatoes, pea patties, waldorf salad, wafers, cake, coffee and brick ice cream, centered with a red basket ball, and the initials, "J. H. S."

FARM HANDS SHY.

Columbus, April 14.—With wages for farm hands showing an approximate 5 per cent increase over last year, there is a decided shortage of farm hands in all parts of the state, according to C. J. West, state federal crop reporter. He says there are about three men for every five jobs. The average wage for farm hands in Ohio is $40 a month, and a worker is ordinarily given board and room.

PHOTOGRAPHER ALSO STRICKEN

New York, April 14.—The "curse of the Pharaohs," to which the superstitious attribute the death of Lord Carnarvon, came home to New York when Mrs. Tom Terriss, wife of the official photographer of the Carnarvon expedition at the tomb of King Tutankhamen, received a cablegram saying her husband was stricken at Luxor with the same mysterious malady that killed Lord Carnarvon.

NO OPERATION FOR HER

She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Escaped the Operation Doctor Advised

Louisville, Ky.—"I wish to thank you for what your medicine has done for me. I was in bed for eight or nine days every month and had a great deal of pain. The doctor said my only relief was an operation. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines and tried the Vegetable Compound and the Sensitive Wash, and they surely did wonders for me. I feel fine all the time now, also am picking up in weight. I will tell any one that your medicines are wonderful, and you may publish my letter if you wish."—Mrs. ED. BOENLEIN, 1130 Ash St., Louisville, Ky.

Backache, nervousness, painful times, irregularity, tired and run-down feelings, are symptoms of female troubles. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken whenever there is reason to fear such troubles. It contains nothing that can injure, and tends to tone up and strengthen the organs concerned, so that they may work in a healthy, normal manner. Let it help you as it has thousands of others. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now selling almost all over the world.

The fire bell rang this morning calling for help to fight fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peterson on the Bellbrook pike. The fire started in the brooder house and owing to the wind being favorable the house was saved. The brooderhouse and woodhouse attached and the smokehouse burned. Mrs. Peterson lost about eighty little chickens. The buildings belonged to S. F. Peterson and were partly covered by insurance.

A PURITAN WIFE

By Jane Phelps

CHAPTER LIX

Ann was frightened, also almost at the end of her patience. She saw the danger to Dick in Grace's light way of talking of his drinking, his forgetfulness. But what could she do? Whenever she had interferred, even so carefully, she had made matters worse. She thought of Hugh Norton. He would help if he could. Yet Ann hesitated to say anything to Hugh. There was something in his manner, his thoughtfulness for her, his way of speaking and looking at her that gave her an inkling of his secret—that he cared for her. And although Hugh never had said one word of what was in his heart, the thought brought a blush to Ann's cheek, kept her from going to him for help, for advice.

Doctor Grayson might warn Dick, but would that do any good? Ann knew Dick felt a little embarrassed before the doctor, although he liked him. But it was hard to forget how they became acquainted—that Grace had pretended to poison herself because of Dick.

Grace had said it was "Ann's stunt" to scold Dick. Ann worried over that speech. She feared she had occasionally made Dick feel she was scolding him, when she only meant to warn him. She wanted Dick to be happy; but also she desperately wanted him to be good and true.

That habit of his that made him forget—what was it? he do what in that state? She was at her wits' end, as her mother used to say when she was undecided what to do. There was no use talking to Grace, she only made a joke of it; then, too, she managed to convey Dick the impression that Ann was narrow, and not a good sport. And that roused Dick's indignation. Bessie did all she could, so there was no use bothering her. She would have to bear it alone, say nothing; but by keeping with Dick, going where he did, she might be able to prevent a recurrence of the incident. His forgetting that he went to the theatre, his failure to remember anything of the picture, and that he was with Grace, seemed to her to prove he was growing worse.

Grace had thought it "screamingly funny," even though she must have seen how she suffered. What a queer, hardhearted girl she was.

After Dick had finished fixing the bouganvillea vine, Grace had made him beg her pardon for deserting her, telling him he would have to take her somewhere soon to make up for his action in leaving her alone in the theatre.

"After blowing us to that luncheon, you were a bad boy to spoil it all by getting spifflicated," she said. But there was nothing in her tone or manner that showed resentment. She treated the whole affair as a joke, Ann knew that it made Dick also consider it in that light, as he answered her banter.

Ann was fair, and said to herself: "How can I expect him to feel any remorse when she talks to him in that fashion?" So she said nothing more about it, tried to forget. In Grace now was over with them nearly every day. Sometimes to meals, oftener with Dick in the groves. Ann's presence there had seemed to deter her for a time, but as Ann tried to be with Dick as much as she could, she evidently had decided not to let her prevent her coming.

Nora had taken the entire care of the every-day housework from Ann, also she helped with little Jack. Ann loved the open, was happy helping Dick wrap the young trees, look for blight, anything she could do—and she had learned to be very helpful.

Grace had a way of keeping Dick from work, of playfully teasing him by snatching his hat off, pulling at his coat, teasing him to stop and talk to her and at the same time ignoring Ann, that was maddening.

Upon such an occasion Ann had gone back to the house, her eyes filled with tears. Grace had even more than usually free with Dick; he more than ordinarily responsive until Ann could endure it no longer.

She found Hugh Norton sitting on the porch waiting until they should come in to dinner. Almost without volition she sobbed out her misery her unhappiness.

"I am so helpless, Hugh," she said wiping her eyes and trying to smile. "My bringing up hasn't fitted me to cope with a girl like Grace. I can only look on and suffer."

"You mustn't be too meek, Ann," Hugh replied, his heart aching for her. "Meet her on her own ground if you can. Laugh and joke too, and don't let her drive you away. She'll soon tire of her nonsense if she sees it doesn't get her anywhere." He invariably made light of Grace's actions to Ann, but in reality he was almost as fearful as Ann that she would ruin her home. Dick seemed like wax in her hands.

"I do try, Hugh. But it grows harder all the time," Ann replied as Grace and Dick appeared, arm in arm, laughing merrily.

LEVIATHAN WILL HAVE NIGHTLY SHOW AT SEA

S.S. Leviathan. WTL.

When the liner Leviathan, greatest under the American flag, is completely reconditioned at Newport News she will fly the flag of the United States Lines and will be the only vessel which will present a nightly theatrical show while at sea. More than 2,500 men are at work now on the vessel to have her ready in time for her maiden trip about June 1. Hundreds of new conveniences are being installed. There will be a radio telephone in each of the first cabins, which will also have open plumbing in their equipment. A complete new gallery and pantry is being installed, as well as a steam-heating system. The liner is being converted from a coal to an oil burner, which will consume 1,000 tons of fuel oil daily to turn up a speed of 25 knots. The reconditioning will cost $10,000,000 and when completed the ship will be worth $30,000,000. The 2,600 men at work are shown leaving for midday lunch. It takes five minutes to clear the decks. A general view of the vessel's decks also shows the 150-ton crane for carrying supplies on board.

WHEN FARMING PAYS

An Analysis of the Economic,
Political and Social Conditions Which Make
Farming Profitable

By Leonard P. Bennett
SHORTAGE OF LABOR

The shortage of well trained farm labor is made the subject of comment by the New York State Farm Bureau federation. The reason is easy to find in the industrial demand for labor, which is taking men who would otherwise plough the fields and harvest the crops. High wages are a lure just as they were during the war. Higher wages in the city necessitate higher wages on the farm, and by raising costs of production further complicate the farmer's problem of raising foodstuffs at a profit.

The New York farm bureau notes that city residents who acquired small land holdings and managed to work them at a profit when prices were high are now giving up the unequal struggle and going back to city work again. Established farmers seem inclined to plant about the usual acreage, the Bureau comments, despite the fact that several crops failed to make money last year. The need for economy in operation is imperative and tends somewhat to discourage the use of fertilizer.

COTTON

Cotton is invading northern territory where climatic conditions permit of its growth. Southern Illinois is growing cotton on a scale that deserves notice. High prices are a bait this year when other farm prices are none too rewarding. The boll weevil is likewise partially responsible for the migration. Thus it happens that while many Southern farmers are seeking to diversify their crops and thus lessen their dependence upon cotton, more northerly farmers are taking it up. They will do well to grow it in rotation as one of several farm crops, and not as an exclusive cash crop, opines the Breeders Gazette.

AN APPRAISAL

The April agricultural review of the department of Agriculture has more than usual significance, both because of the season and because it contains some very concrete and pointed suggestions for the successful conduct of farm operations this year.

Farmers who produce efficiently at low cost will have a chance this year, the report declares, while "farmers who are too far down the scale in efficiency will hardly find salvation in cheap credit, cheap transportation, cooperative marketing, tariffs, price-fixing, nor all of these combined."

Not more than two major crops are likely to be expanded this year at a profit, the report concludes. They are cotton and possibly sheep.

HENRY FORD

Henry Ford, while no great student of history and no logician, is always original. He was original when he voluntarily paid off all obligations of the Lincoln Motors Corp., amounting to several millions of dollars, presumably so that no memories of unpaid debt might tarnish the Lincoln name. He was likewise original when he bought an empire of coal lands in the South, not simply to obtain fuel for his factories, but to provide thousands of workmen with cheaper fuel and to permit the application of his scheme for forestation.

The country would profit by the presence of more men of wealth possessing Ford's human sympathy and "social conscience" and willing to experiment with remedies for current evils, even if sometimes they go wrong.

TABLES TURNED

If the farmer is now at a disadvantage as compared with the industrial worker, it is to be considered whether the industrial situation was not out of balance in the farmer's favor during the years before the war, comments a publication of the National City bank, which makes a careful study of agricultural conditions. From 1899 to 1914 the Bureau of Labor price tables show that farm products advanced 177 per cent, while all commodities, including farm products, advanced 134 per cent. Wages in the cities did not keep pace with the rising cost of food. In the slump since 1920 the farmer has failed to hold all his gains of the 1899-1914 period.

On his side now are the pressure of a growing population and the economics and gains in efficiency resulting from the introduction of improved methods and machinery.

FACTORS IN GRAIN

The time of year has come when crop scares have a great influence upon the market price of wheat futures. Until there is a period of warm, growing weather the outlook in wheat cannot be accurately determined and claims of damage are not to be swallowed verbatim. Speculation in grains has been light. Statistics have but little effect upon prices and sentiment.

Delay in oats seeding is a big factor in this grain.

PACKERS' CONSOLIDATION

Consolidation of the Armour and Morris packing houses has been effected, producing a concern that will doubtless be the dominant factor in its field. The purchase price was about $29,000,000.00.

The deal does not remove the element of competition from the packing industry and, in all probability, will not affect the level of prices paid the grower for his livestock, unless through economics in distribution it enables the consolidated company to pay a little more.

The drop of 26 per cent in plow lands, during the past three years reported by the department of Agriculture, makes it evident that low prices have squeezed the "water" out of farm land, wherever it exists and have unduly depressed values in many cases where there was no "water".

Iowa lost $86.00 an acre—the largest decrease, while Illinois lands dropped $44.0 an acre. Prices are above $100.00 in only three states—Iowa, $153.00, Illinois, $126.00; and California $113.00.

"The basic theory of co-operation is that the strong and efficient can help the weaker and less efficient, and thereby help themselves. In practice the efficient will not 'stick' unless it pays them to do so. If a man is not strong, efficient and resourceful as an individual, he may grow less efficient and less self-reliant by depending on the aid of others."

This writer concludes that co-operation is one, and only one, of the factors in agricultural progress.

Much is said about the rising standard living of the wage-

earning classes, and with truth. So also has the farmer's standard of living risen. His trouble lies in the fact that, unlike the wage-earner, his income has not risen correspondingly.

The farmer of 50 years ago supplied more of his own needs than the farmer of today, who is still one of the great producers of life's necessities. The old-time farmer was wood cutter and pioneer as well as farmer, and had less opportunity, and less temptation to buy manufactured articles adding to his convenience and his comfort. Mechanical inventions have spread a network of telephone wires over the entire country and provided electric light where formerly the rural dweller burned lamps and candles. Modern progress has given the farmer his binder and mower, his washing machine, and electric sweeper and his automobile.

But these things all cost money. It is difficult to maintain this higher standard of living because production costs and taxes have risen more proportionately of late than prices. For agricultural products. The escape from this difficulty lies in a gradual, progressive lessening of production costs and of articles the farmer buys and a slow increase of prices he can charge—if not the latter, then the former in greater measure. Some adjustment in living and a careful budgeting of expenditures is the immediate necessity.

Years will be required to put the farmer on a sound business footing and in right relation to other groups of producers.

What co-operation can accomplish has not yet been determined. The only safe conclusion as yet is that in it lie the seeds of progress and that it will ameliorate certain evils in the economic system.

One authority on agricultural subjects makes the following comment on co-operation, which goes to show that co-operation should concern itself with an advantageous disposal of crops and not with an effort to create artificial prices.

URGE NAKED EYE TO GET AT ROT IN CORN; TESTS MADE LOCALLY

Checking experiments of their own, recently concluded, with those of three other agricultural colleges, crops scientists at the Ohio State University are urging use of the naked eye in advance of the germination-tester when it comes to culling out seed ears for the coming crop.

It is not advocated that farmers dispense with germination testing, a practice of proven value, but it is stated that too many farmers have come to regard the tester as the first and last authority on what corn to plant and what to throw away.

"In summary, the signs and warnings of rot are these; (1) faint white or grayish molds on the kernels, most easily detected when seed corn is shelled as should be, by hand; (2) immaturity of the ear, as evidenced by looseness of grain; (3) discolored or shredded shanks, marketing the path by which rot entered from the plant into the ear; (4) discolored germ, seen on splitting the kernel with a knife.

Approximately 100,000 ears of seed corn have been tested in Greene County, during the past few weeks, including 35,000 at the Xenia Farmer's Exchange, 22,000 at the Bath township High School, and 6,000 for both Ross and Bath townships.

ANNUAL REPORT SHOWS LARGE AMOUNT OF BUTTER FAT HANDLED BY MILK PRODUCERS

The annual report of the Yellow Springs station, of the Miami Valley Cooperative Milk Producers' Association, was given at the meeting of Farm Bureau members of Miami township, at the Yellow Springs Farm Bureau hall, Tuesday night.

The amount of butter fat handled by the Yellow Springs station, during the year, ending April 1, amounted to 83,032 pounds, the amount of butter fat being sold amounting to 83,220.2 pounds, with an average of 187.8 pounds. The local receipts from the butter fat amounted to $37,422.45.

The total amount paid out by the station for butter fat was $31255.95, with a gross profit of $6166.50. The expenses of operating the station, totaled $1075.00, with a miscellaneous expense of $539.86, the total expense figuring $1614.86. The net profit of the station amounted to $4551.64. The station paid out as rebates, $3920.40, with a balance of $631.14. The equipment for the station cost $200, the checkout paid being $400. The investment for the year was less than $500.

The Yellow Springs station is the only cooperative station in the Miami Valley Cooperative Milk Producers' Association in operation for the year in this district, and is also one of the largest organizations in the territory, having handled the most butter fat, with the lowest operating cost for the year, with 1.94 cents overhead.

COUNTY AGENT HAS CANNING BULLETIN

Free to all who want it is a 28-page bulletin on the home canning of fruits, vegetables, and meats, just published by the agricultural extension service of the Ohio State University. Application should be made to the nearest county agricultural or home demonstration agent.

The bulletin backs the cold-pack or can-cooked method against the open-kettle system. It describes a simple standard equipment, and gives plain directions for each step in the process, followed by specific pointers on canning different kinds of fruits, meats, and vegetables.

The bulletins may be secured at the Greene County Farm Bureau within a few days.

SHOWS CONSTRUCTION OF FIRELESS COOKER MADE AT OWN HOME

A demonstration on the construction of home-made fireless cookers was an interesting feature of the meeting of the members of the Miami township Farm Bureau, at Yellow Springs, Tuesday night. The demonstration was given by Mrs. W. M. Hardman, Home Economics leader in Miami Township.

The cooker was made from home materials, with the exception of asbestos matting, which can be obtained from any plumbing shop. The materials used include, two receptacles, one small and the other large.

The smaller receptacle is used for the inside compartment, a layer of excelsior for filler being placed between the two large containers, which are lined throughout with asbestos, the same material covering the outside of the inner receptacle. The cookers are constructed at a cost of from 35 cents up, depending on the amount of material found at home.

The demonstration was attended by a number of women of the township. It was announced that a second demonstration would be held at the Farm Bureau hall in Yellow Springs, Wednesday afternoon, April 18.

REACH GOAL FIXED ON SEED CORN WORK

The goal of each township of 5,000 ears of seed corn to be tested, has been reached, it is announced by County Agent Ford S. Prince, and the Farm Bureau is now ready to throw the testing work open to other farmers who have been unable to have their corn tested, or additional corn for farmers who have already had their grain tested.

Any one desiring to have seed corn tested is asked to get in touch with the Farm Bureau office, as the room is limited, and corn must come in gradually.

SEES INCREASE OF SPRING PIGS IN OHIO

Columbus, O., April 14—That there should be an increase of four or five percent in the number of spring pigs in Ohio this year, compared with those of a year ago is the statement made here by C. J. West, state agricultural statistician for the state-federal crop reporting service.

"It appears that the number of breeding sows in Ohio is four percent greater than last year," said West. "It seems, also, that the percentage of pigs saved will be about the same as last year and the size of the litters about the same or perhaps, a little larger. Considering the increased number of sows and the fact that about the same percentage of pigs are being saved, together with the slightly larger litters, there should be an increase of four or five percent in the number of spring pigs, compared with a year ago."

REACH AGREEMENT ON SUPPLYING OF MILK

A cooperative agreement between the Miami Valley Milk Producers' Association and the Dayton Dealers has been reached, whereby Dayton distributors of milk will obtain their supply from farmers, who are members of the Milk Producers' Association.

Terms in the agreement will stabilize the price of milk during the various seasons of the year as well as assure a dependable milk supply for the city, distributors asserted.

The Miami Valley Milk Producers Association was organized about a year ago.

BREEDERS TO MEET

The Greene County Breeder's Association will meet at the Greene County Farm Bureau office Wednesday night, the object of the meeting being to adopt a constitution, and a code of regulations.

MEETING IS HELD

A meeting of the Executive Board of the Greene County Farm Bureau was held at the Farm Bureau office, Saturday.
